Cyprus Plane Crash Claims 124 Lives

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A Swiss-owned Britannia airliner crashed while trying to land in a thunderstorm early today, and rescuers reported finding 124 bodies in one of aviation's worst disasters.

Six survivors were taken to a hospital.

The plane, en route from Bombay, India, to Cairo, Egypt, carried 120 passengers and a crew of 10, reports said. It was diverted to Nicosia because of bad weather.

Many of the dead were women.

Rescuers reporting from the scene of the crash said the four-engine turboprop Britannia appeared to have plowed into the top of a low hill as it was coming in to land.

The plane broke up on impact, scattering bodies over a wide area.

Scores of policemen and doctors assisted by personnel of the U.N. Peace Force in Cyprus trudged through muddy fields in darkness to help in the rescue operations.

One man on the spot said, "It is the worst scene I have ever seen in my life. There are bodies all over the place, some of them in pieces."

Rescuers were working under floodlights shining from two U.N. helicopters hovering overhead.

The airliner belonged to the Swiss air charter firm, Globeair.

Globeair agents said they had no idea of the nationality of the passengers, but it was believed many were British.

Nicosia Airport employees said the plane made one low run over the runway. It then turned apparently to make a second landing run. "I was watching the plane flying low with lights in all its windows," an airport employee said. "Then suddenly there was a flash and I could not see the plane any more. I thought it was another flash of lightning but it could be the plane hitting the ground."

The airliner belonged to the Swiss air charter firm, Globeair.

The highest death toll in a single passenger plane crash occurred Feb. 4, 1966, when a Japanese jetliner plunged into Tokyo Bay, killing all 133 persons aboard.

SPEAKER DESCRIBES 'THE WARM DEATH'

At the annual dinner meeting of Warren County TB and Health Society last night Dr. Perry S. MacNeal of Philadelphia (left) was the featured speaker. Also speaking were John Zavinski (center) the new TB society president

County TB Association Discusses Reorganization

By STEVE CULLINANE

Some 70 people attended the annual meeting of Warren County TB and Health Society at Jackson Valley Country Club last night.

Among the speakers were several TB society members who commented on the upcoming reorganization of the society. Dr. Ross Bryan described last night's meeting as the "swan song" of more than 40 years of Lions Club sponsorship of the society.

The Warren County organization is planning to merge with six other county TB societies in northwest Pennsylvania. The target date for merger completion is sometime in June. When the merger is completed, the local society will become a branch of the Pennsylvania TB and Health Society.

Dr. Bryan said the local society's members are "from Missouri" as far as the merger plan is concerned.

He said they "will wait and see" whether reorganization produces benefits.

Major Olmes of Oil City, president of the state organization, said "reorganization is without, and there are casualties." He said he hoped the Lions Club would "continue its moral support" of the society.

Lions president Ange Diczembre said in an interview that the relationship between Lions and the TB Society is similar to the Lions' relationship with the Heart Fund several years ago. He noted that that group, too, was sponsored by the Lions Club and then became an independent organization.

Olmes presented Diczembre a plaque for 41 years of Lions Club support of the local society.

First West German Chancellor Dead

BY PETER REHAK

BONN, Germany (AP) — Death took Konrad Adenauer yesterday at 91 and the West German government made ready to pay him the nation's highest tribute at a state funeral Tuesday that President Johnson and other leaders will attend.

The man who in 14 years as chancellor led West Germany up from the depths of wartime defeat died in his sleep at his villa overlooking the Rhine in the nearby village of Rheindorf.

He had been fighting a losing battle for a week with influenza, bronchitis and complications. West Germany was plunged into mourning and as the bells tolled messages of condolences poured in from leaders around the world.

"Konrad Adenauer will be missed everywhere," Johnson said in Washington. "But his dauntless spirit will live on in the Atlantic partnership which he did so much to create."

Charles de Gaulle, who signed a French-German treaty of friendship with Adenauer, called the former chancellor "the great German who led his country to renovation, the great European who was for France, a faithful and sincere friend."

De Gaulle and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain also will be among the other world leaders who will attend the funeral in Cologne's Roman Catholic cathedral Tuesday afternoon.

Shortly before this, a ceremony of tribute will be held in Parliament, where Adenauer often spoke out on the issues involving the East-West division of Europe and the Atlantic alliance. He stepped down as chancellor in 1963 but remained a member of the Bundestag.

As the news broke in Germany, flags were lowered to half staff and broadcasters played solemn music and carried the tribute of German leaders.

Said Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger: "He was given to do what is granted few men; to raise up his atherland from the deepest degradation and to bring it back into the community of free peoples."

Ludwig Erhard, who was chancellor after Adenauer and before Kiesinger, commented: "When he left office in 1963 we were once again a country on which the community of free peoples could count and which had won trust and respect in the world."

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt and other leaders of the Social Democratic party, opposed to Adenauer over the years, sent condolences saying he was assured of a permanent place in the history of the German nation. Mayor Heinrich Albertz of West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, called Adenauer "one of the great Europeans of our time."

Adenauer had longed for the reunification of Germany and it

WENDELBOE CALLS FOR PASSAGE

Delay of Codes Criticized

BY BETTY RICE

Action taken Tuesday night by the local urban renewal Citizens Advisory Committee recommending that borough council delay passage of the proposed building, housing and plumbing codes, appears to slow down progress on the Library st. parking lot project.

Since the committee felt time was too short to properly study the documents and inform the public (as is their function) before council meets May 8, members said yesterday they preferred not to act hastily.

Plue Wendelboe, director of the Warren County Redevelopment Authority said yesterday he was inclined to take the same stand on passing the codes as did Council President James Torrance at council's April 10 meeting—to pass the codes by reference and following a continued study, take care of changes or exceptions to adapt to the local picture.

Wendelboe noted the codes are pretty much nationally standardized codes and can be altered to fit community needs. According to the redevelopment director, council is not bound of follow recommendations of either the Citizens Advisory Committee or the Warren Borough Planning Commission but has the power to act strictly on its own.

Borough solicitor S. Knox Harper said yesterday that council must consider recommendations but it does not have to act accordingly.

President Torrance said he could understand the Advisory Committee's position but feels that a conference between the two groups may result in reaching a satisfactory solution. Torrance plans to discuss the matter with borough manager Victor L. Miller, who is out of town, relative to possible ramifications but indicated that council may hold to their resolution to pass the codes by reference at the May 10 meeting. He said he thought council would try to meet the urban renewal deadline.

Wendelboe said he would recommend that his board ask council to pass the codes as scheduled.

Torrance agreed with the redevelopment director that changes could always be made later. The council president added that the new zoning ordinance still needs refinements which can be handled through amendments.

Wendelboe stated if the codes are passed it will be possible for him to file both the workable program of urban renewal and Part 2 of the application at the same time but that, at best, August appears to be the first possible date to start necessary acquisition for the parking lot project.

Torrance pointed out that the codes under consideration have been approved by Kendree & Shephard, planning consultants to Warren's urban renewal program.

Reds Claim Two U.S. Planes Down

By GEORGE ESPEY

SAIGON (AP) — Smarting after the second heaviest U.S. air raids of 1967, the North Vietnamese broadcast a declaration that their air force shot down two U.S. planes yesterday over Hoa Binh Province southeast of Hanoi and captured the pilot of one.

There was no immediate comment from American authorities. If the Hanoi story is confirmed it would mean that Ho Chi Minh's Soviet-built MIGs had scored a total of 12 victories in the war's dogfighting. American pilots have shot down 38 MIGs.

Below the border U.S. Marines, plagued by Communist mines and mortar fire, battled off a uniformed enemy platoon to continue bulldozing a defensive buffer strip two miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Two Marines were killed and 17 wounded in a firefight that cost the Communist five known dead. Enemy explosives knocked out a Marine tank, a bulldozer and an amphibious tractor assigned to this phase of the construction of a Little Miami Line across 12 miles of flatland between the mountains and the South China Sea. Elements of the 1st Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, took on the enemy platoon, estimated at 30 or 40 men.

Air war operations illustrated prospects for a more intensified bombing of North Vietnam when the northeast monsoon ends. That should be soon. The rain-laden winds out of Siberia normally abate in mid-April.

Heavy clouds had lifted enough Tuesday to allow U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots to get in 145 missions, including heavy strikes at the Thai Nguyen steel plant 38 miles north of Hanoi. The eight-square-mile complex, an industrial showpiece raided nine times previously, was left dotted with secondary explosions.

Fesenmeyer Airport Chairman

F. Wayne Fesenmeyer of Bradford was named chairman of the Regional Airport Authority during a meeting held yesterday in McKean County Courthouse, Smethport. LeRoy Schneck of Warren was voted vice-chairman.

During the conference the authority resolution was reviewed and will be sent later to each of the four counties represented at the meeting for final approval.

Fesenmeyer also is attorney for the regional airport. Benet Friedman, also of Bradford, was elected secretary.

According to Warren County Commissioner Blain Mead, changes in the resolution were discussed and the revised form will be mailed to the Warren County Commissioners. He said they would probably act on the program Monday in Warren County Courthouse.

Commissioner Mead indicated that he still opposed the resolution and said that the county's share was $51,000. He labeled the whole program as "too costly" and again noted Jamestown Airport was nearer and was also used by area residents.

He also added that at the meeting it was disclosed that the airport would be known as Bradford Airport Authority and not Northern Tier Airport, as previously announced.

Clark Blasts Minehart

BY HUGH FLEMING
(TMO Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Joseph S. Clark yesterday charged that many of his critics, particularly Pennsylvania state Democratic chairman Thomas Z. Minehart, have distorted his position in relation to his differences with President Johnson about the war in Vietnam.

In a letter mailed to all county Democratic chairmen and committee members in Pennsylvania, Clark says, "It is true that President Johnson and I have differed on the appropriate means to stop the loss of American lives and settle this war, but we have never disagreed on the crucial fact that it must be ended promptly and with honor."

"Neither he nor I have advocated unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam. We both agree that it is too late for that and too many people have committed their lives and fortunes to the American cause."

"We both agree that we must aim our course and a negotiated settlement from which might result a neutral Vietnam—North and South alike. We both agree that our fighting men in the field must be given all the support they need and that on every occasion I have supported with my vote President Johnson's fund request for Vietnam."

China-Watchers Say Liu Loses as Head of State

PEKING (Agence France-Press) — Scenes showing President Liu Shao-Chi have been cut from an official documentary film released yesterday, giving rise to speculation that the head of state may have been removed from his party and state posts.

The documentary film is devoted to ceremonies last year on Communist China's national day, Oct. 1. It does not show Liu, Teng Hsiao-Ping, the party's general secretary; Tao Chu, former propaganda chief, or other leaders subsequently attacked as opponents of Mao Tse-tung, the party chairman.

All figured in the list of participants in the Tiananmen Square ceremonies marking the 17th anniversary of the Communist regime, which the official Hsinhua news agency distributed at the time.

Mao stars in the 50-minute color documentary, titled "Chairman Mao Tse-tung Is the Red Sun of Our Hearts." Thunderous applause broke out in audiences yesterday every time he appeared.

Lin Piao, the defense minister and presumed successor to Mao appears frequently on the screen beside the chairman and makes a speech. Premier Chou En-lai is also shown, but less frequently.

Other leaders not shown in the film include Ho Long and Chu Teh, chairman of the standing committee of the national people's congress, and three deputy premiers charged with broad responsibilities. Chen Yun (economy), Tan Chen-Lin (agriculture) and Li Hsien-Nien (finances).

The absence of the two vice presidents, Soong Ching-Ling and Tung Piao-wu is not thought to be significant.

Anti-Soviet posters calling for the "burning" of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Leonid I. Brezhnev, the party leader, appeared near the Soviet embassy yesterday for the first time since February.

(c) N.Y. Times News Service HONG KONG — Political observers here doubt assumptions by correspondents in Peking that Liu Shao-Chi has ceased to be chief of state in Communist China because scenes showing him have been eliminated from a film showing Chinese leaders at celebrations of last

Oct. 1. In the view of observers here, this could simply represent another move to denigrate the man Maoist partisans have denounced as the leader and symbol of opposition to chairman Mao's struggle against alleged capitalist tendencies in China.

Liu is being labeled in the Chinese press as "the no. 1 party person taking the capitalist road." It is doubted that this form would be used if he had been deposed.

home-like quality. In the final minutes of its voyage Surveyor spun in space to align its feet with its flight path. Its main retro-rocket braked it from 6,000 miles per hour to 250. Then three small guidance rockets slowed it to about 3 m.p.h.—and it fell the last few feet.

A huge cheer resounded in the auditorium at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which controls the flight, as word of the touchdown came over a loudspeaker.

Surveyor 3 is the most sophisticated device this country has sent to the moon and scientists banked on teamwork between its shovel and camera to return the most detailed information yet on the strength and texture of the lunar surface.

The claw-like shovel is designed to scoop up soil and test it to determine texture and strength. From this they hope to find whether the moon's crust will support a manned landing craft.

night's meeting was Dr. Perry S. MacNeal of Philadelphia, whose topic was "Stay Alive."

Dr. MacNeal warned his audience of the dangers of "the warm death," his phrase for the depression that often strikes in middle age.

He said he was not talking about physical symptoms so much as an emotional state that occurs "when, like Janus, we look both backward and forward... and we don't like what we see."

The onset of "the warm death" is, he said, marked by a desire to shut out one's environment, for instance by wearing dark glasses, sleeping late, or sleeping in summer with both air conditioning and an electric blanket. A loss of appetites also occurs. One looks at the world "through a gray-colored glasses."

Dr. MacNeal's description of how to avoid middle-age depression was simple: find a goal "bigger than yourself," remember how to play, avoid intellectual rigidity, don't be afraid of love with a capital L, be a friend to people.

Intermediate School Plan Draws Four Counties' Ire

By WILLIAM E. DEIBLER
HARRISBURG (AP) — Four counties told a joint House-Senate Education Committee yesterday that they prefer to stand alone rather than join other counties in forming intermediate school service units.

Representatives of the counties — Chester, Delaware, Mercer and Westmoreland — testified before the legislative panel, which is holding hearings on a proposed plan to abolish 66 county superintendents' offices and replace them with 25 intermediate units.

The plan, which must be approved by the legislature before it can be implemented, is the final step in a three-year-old program to streamline the administration of Pennsylvania's public school system.

Earlier phases of the program established the state Board of Education and reduced the number of school districts in the state from more than 2,000 to fewer than 500.

In a joint plea, Chester and Delaware counties said that they believe they can provide better, more individual service to local school districts if they are permitted to operate as individual units rather than join together as the board has recommended.

John B. Cutler, Mercer County superintendent of schools, said the Mercer County School Board believes that if the county joined with Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties in an intermediate unit it would be "too large and unwieldy for economical operation."

However, Cutler said that the county, as a second choice, would not oppose joining with Lawrence and Butler to form a three-county unit.

Cutler also said he opposed the state board's authority to draw up or change intermediate unit boundaries on the ground that this power should be retained by the legislature.

There are 30,000 pupils in Mercer County's 12 school districts.

tricts. Eugene M. McKelvey, Westmoreland County school superintendent, said his county school board opposed the state board's plan to put it in a unit with Indiana and Armstrong counties.

"Armstrong and Indiana counties are basically rural in nature, while Westmoreland is suburban and industrial," McKelvey said. "Accordingly, an entirely different educational approach is required. It is our firm belief that the best educational interest of this region could not be served with this type of county amalgamation."

least casual meetings with such dignitaries as British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, or even President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Surveyor

Surveyor 3 is the same as Surveyor 1. It consists of a triangular frame of tubular aluminum, 10 feet high. Its instruments are attached to the frame. Each of its three feet have crushable honeycomb pads, to cushion the landing.

Surveyor 1 returned 11,150 close-ups after making this country's first soft lunar landing last June 2. Surveyor 2 crashed into the moon last September after a mid-course steering failure made it cartwheel.

He said treatment of the condition required loving without expecting returns, not being "angry with God," working "worshipfully" but without seeking perfection, not being a slave to possessions, forgiving oneself one's imperfections, taking an interest in young people, playing and finding playmates, and coming to terms with the boss, the self, God, and death.

In summary, the speaker said: "The secret of happiness is to love someone and show it, and to be loved and know it."

Chautauqua Supervisor, 82, Dies

JAMESTOWN—Theodore N. Nelson of 1117 Prendergast ave., a member of the Chautauqua County Board of Supervisors for 31 years, died in Jamestown General Hospital yesterday afternoon at the age of 82.

Mr. Nelson, a Democrat, thus became the third political figure of Jamestown to die this month. Frank R. Franco, president of city council, died on April 8, and Julius Bergman, a long-time member of city council, died Tuesday.

Mr. Nelson, who had been ill for several years, was last elected to the board of supervisors for a two-year term in 1963. A member of First Methodist Church of Jamestown, he was active in many masonic organizations and belonged to the Left Erickson Lodge, the Exempt Volunteer Firemen and the Chautauqua County Firemen's Association. A member of the Lakes and Navigation Commission, Mr. Nelson was captain of the steamer, "The City of Jamestown."

For several years he was an agent for Travelers Insurance Company.

His wife, Alleen, preceded him in death in December of last year.

The Republicans of the Tidioute area are holding a meeting in the Tidioute school cafeteria tonight at 7:30 to meet local and county candidates on the Republican ticket.

Local candidates will be presented first, followed by the introduction of aspirants to the county offices of auditor, jury commissioner, treasurer, register & recorder, sheriff and, finally, county commissioner.

Each candidate will be given a few minutes to explain why he feels he is qualified for the office he is seeking.

RULES COMMITTEE RELEASES MEASURE

Assembly Proposal Seeks Ethics Probe

By JOHN L. TAYLOR
HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee, accused by a House Democrat of dragging its feet, released to the floor yesterday a resolution calling for an investigation into the need for a legislative code of ethics.

The action came as Rep. Robert C. Wise, D-Lycoming, introduced an ethics bill in the House, complaining that the Senate was stalling on the issue. The investigatory resolution had been approved by the House on Feb. 13.

The resolution, if adopted by the Senate, would establish a joint committee to determine if a need for a code exists. If the committee found there was a need, a code would be drafted and presented to the legislature for final approval.

"I don't think the men who control the Senate really want a strict code of ethics," Wise said in introducing his proposal. "If we want to enact a mandatory code at this session of the legislature, the time to act is now."

Wise's bill would provide that: — Legislators, state officials and employees could not accept gifts valued at more than $25 if it could be "reasonably inferred" that such a gift was meant to influence or reward the recipient.

Legislators, state officials and employees be prohibited from doing business with the state other than on a competitive bid basis.

Legislators file each year a statement of financial interests in any business that is subject to the jurisdiction of the state.

Legislators be required to disclose all sources of income of more than $200 "which should be in the public interest ... be disclosed."

Legislators, state officials and employees be prohibited from holding other employment which would "impair his independence of judgment in the exercise of his official duties."

Violations could be punishable by a maximum fine of $1,000 or imprisonment of up to two years.

"Most legislators are strictly honest," Wise said. "But the recent revelations in the U. S. Congress about Sen. Dodd and Rep. Powell has turned the attention of the people to this problem. Thus it is time for action right now." Both House and Senate whipped through light sessions before going into an 11-day recess ending May 1. Neither chamber planned to meet next week because of the Jewish holidays.

In other legislative action prior to adjournment: Pollution — The Shafer administration introduced in the Senate a bill that would authorize Pennsylvania to enter the proposed Mid-Atlantic States Air Pollution Control Compact.

Steel — The Senate adopted a resolution urging Congress to take steps to provide the steel industry with temporary relief from "the increasing inflow of foreign steel imports until equitable and fair competition is established."

Pope Lashes at Both Extremes In Roman Catholic Church

By GERALD MILLER
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI lashed out yesterday at both extremes in the Roman Catholic Church — the ultraliberals in a king unauthorized changes and the rigid conservatives fighting to block modernization.

The Pope expressed "bitterness," "sorrow," "apprehension," and "affliction." He used these terms in a speech that he delivered personally in Latin to a meeting of his commission to supervise liturgy changes authorized by the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

It was one of the strongest open denunciations Pope Paul has made against what he considers excessive trends at work in the church since the updating movement was launched.

He scored those introducing unauthorized changes in worship practices.

And he brusquely assailed the kind of thought, and the methods, of church conservatives fighting such already-permitted changes as replacing Latin in the Mass with modern languages.

Pope Paul did not single out specifics. Possibly he had in mind such practices as so-called dinner Masses in private homes and using forms of music in sacred services not approved by church authorities.

He called on both clergy and faithful "not to let themselves become enchanted by the itch for capricious experiment."

He said he could not "keep silent our bitterness over some facts and tendencies that certainly do not favor the good results that the church expects from the diligent work of this commission."

In his censure of conservatism, he singled out an incident that has been causing scandal in the Vatican — a published diatribe in which a conservative cardinal attacked a leading Italian progressive prelate.

The conservative, 81-year-old Antonio Cardinal Bacci, the Vatican's top Latin specialist, wrote the foreword to an essay that denounced Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, archbishop of Bologna.

Cardinal Lercaro, president of the Liturgy Commission, was characterized as a danger to Catholicism as great as Martin Luther or Marxism.

Voicing high praise for Cardinal Lercaro, the Pope said of the essay: "Such a publication obviously cannot have our consent. It edifies no one."

He defended concern for the Latin language as a worthy cause, but said it could not be done by opposing the "great principle" expressed by the Ecumenical Council, making liturgy comprehensible to the ordinary man.

The Spirit Prevails

And to the north, a vast new future unfolds.

The Seneca Indians, having left the basin that is now Kinzua Dam's reservoir, have embarked on an ambitious project that shows every chance of fabulous success—the development of an industrial park which takes advantage of the very waters that displaced the tribe.

The plan starts with 55 acres and a potential for employment of 1,000 members of the tribe. It can be expanded to 268 acres, should the development pan out the way it appears on paper.

We have every reason to believe it will do just that. The area is near to market centers. The resources—labor, water, transporta-

Lyndon's Political Coup

WASHINGTON -- The Pan American Summit Conference ended up a much greater triumph for Lyndon Johnson than appeared in the press. This was because most of the real work was done behind closed doors with newspapermen not present.

From the byplay that took place in executive session, however, it was quite clear that L.B.J. pulled off the most notable diplomatic victory of his career. Here is the inside story of what happened:

At first the Latin American presidents were suspicious and wary. When Johnson first walked into the conference room there was something just a bit intimidating about this huge hulk of a man. He was far bigger than anyone else and represented the biggest nation.

When it came his turn to speak on the first day, however, Johnson said that he would rather wait until everyone else had spoken. He had come to listen.

When it came the turn of Ecuadorian President Otto Arosemena Gomez, he also passed. But at about ten o'clock on the second day, Arosemena did speak, and launched a vicious, bitter attack on the United States for pouring money into Vietnam while neglecting our neighbors.

Johnson spoke at about noon that day, unfolding an outline of cooperative help for Latin America provided it helped itself. His delivery lacked eloquence and the speech lasted only 19 minutes, compared with 40 to 50 minutes for some of the smaller nations.

That afternoon, Thursday, the presidents met in closed session, and President Arosemena of Ecuador delivered another slashing attack, this time against not only Johnson but the other presidents for not agreeing with him.

After he had finished, Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz replied:

"I resent being called irresponsible," he said. "I resent the charge that I do not represent the views of my people. I know what the views of my people are. Latin America has grown up. It is able to help itself. It is time for the larger nations to help the smaller nations."

The Ecuadorian quickly apologized, saying that he didn't mean to call the president of Mexico irresponsible. Diaz Ordaz accepted the apology.

Following this, the Costa Rican, the Colombian, the Peruvian and the Chilean presidents all defended the United States, refuting the Ecuadorian. President Eduardo Frei Montalva of Chile was

Reaching for Good News

WASHINGTON -- Both President Johnson and Vice-President Hubert Humphrey have been bitterly complaining lately over the lack of good news being reported by American newspapermen. They have both contended that the American image is being hurt abroad because all people have been reading lately is the bad news about the United States.

They certainly have a point, and every possible newspaper is now hiring a "good news" editor who is responsible for getting as much good news in the paper as possible. So far they've had a hard time ferreting out many good news stories, but it isn't for lack of trying. Here are some of the kinds of stories they're looking for.

HOUSTON, Tex.--Pvt. Muhammad Ali, otherwise known as Cassius Clay, was awarded the good conduct medal today after being in the U.S. Army for only two weeks. Pvt. Muhammad said, "All I want to be is a good soldier and make Pfc." Asked if he missed fighting for the world heavyweight championship, Pvt. Muhammad said, "I'd rather fight the Viet Cong any day."

MONTGOMERY, Ala.--Gov. Lurleen Wallace cut the 300th ribbon today to open another tion, room for expansion, etc.—are readily available. The Seneca Nation, as developer is cooperative and looks to the future. The benefits of up-to-date innovations can be applied to the best advantage. Industry cannot and will not ignore these facts.

The development of the park is encouraging. The Senecas visualize the potential of today's expanding Northeast, a virtue this area would do well to duplicate.

But the idea behind the park means much more. The Seneca Nation has overcome the quarrels within its body politic and made the best of what, for them, was a bad situation. This is doubly commendable.

the most eloquent. "I regret that the word 'dollar' has even been mentioned here," he said. "This meeting will have been a success if for no other reason because we have come together to make important political decisions together. We have come to know each other. In Europe they meet together all the time. We do not. I now look forward to picking up the telephone and calling you personally—if my senate will let me."

He referred to the Chilean senate's refusal to let him visit the United States earlier this year. One by one, the 18 other presidents rose to urge the Ecuadorian to reconsider his blast against the United States. President Arosemena, obviously affected, consulted with President Oscar Gestido of Uruguay, the host, to ask whether he could sign the final conference decree "with reservations."

The president of Uruguay advised that he should sign unqualifiedly or not at all. Arosemena's problem was to sign without losing face at home.

That night, Arosemena conferred with L.B.J. It was part of a series of private talks Johnson had with each president. In talking to Arosemena, Johnson was as calm as he is with Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., just after Wayne has delivered one of his most biting attacks on the war in Vietnam.

Johnson showed Arosemena—as he showed other presidents—that he had increased U.S. aid to Latin America under the Alliance for Progress 35 per cent compared with the same period under Kennedy. During Kennedy's three years, aid totaled $3.7 billion. During the first three Johnson years, it totaled $4.9 billion.

Johnson also told the president of Ecuador how when President Eisenhower asked for $500 million in aid for Latin America, Johnson, as Democratic leader, had pushed through the authorization in only 13 days. In contrast, Sen. Fulbright had refused to let the Senate O.K. any advance Latin America foreign aid authorization.

When the presidents met to sign their final decree summarizing their work and establishing a common market, President Arosemena made a very temperate speech.

"This man," he said, referring to Johnson, "I did not know who he was. I did not know he was interested in education, that he was interested in lifting up the standards of the people, or in better housing and social reform. I thought he was an imperialist, a wheeler-dealer, that he was out to destroy the Alliance for Progress. Instead I have found him to be a warm and friendly person."

It was a great triumph for Lyndon Johnson in a field in which he is comparatively new.

RUSSELL BAKER

John, John, Wherefore Art Thou, John?

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—If behavioral science would take its mind off sex long enough to study the effects of names that people are arbitrarily forced to lug through life, we might begin to understand the process of human character formation.

At this very moment, it is an almost certain bet that somewhere in America a mother is naming her newborn son Kenneth and thereby freightening him with heavy psychological luggage that will burden him to the grave. The difficulty with being a Kenneth is that Kenneths are expected to be lean and fibrous. No one knows why. All we know is that there are so few fat Kenneths that when we meet one we go home afterwards and say, "Guess what I met today—a fat Kenneth!"

How Kenneths know that they are expected to grow up lean and fibrous is also a mystery, but the obligation must subject them to great physical and mental strain, particularly those among them who subconsciously yearn to be fat. A Sidney or a Wallace has a perfect right to be shaped like a rail or a balloon, and the Kenneths' knowledge that they are denied this freedom of contour must surely fill them with hostility. Indeed, a study of schoolyard fist fights would probably show that a startling percentage flow from aggressions by Kenneths against Sidneys and Wallaces.

Juliet was deceiving herself when she insisted that there is nothing in a name. It is perfectly obvious that if the man under the balcony had been named John instead of Romeo she wouldn't even have opened the French windows for him.

The name Romeo gives a man the assurance needed to dash through Italian streets in a doublet and to vault onto balconies murmuring blank verse. The Johns of the world are incapable of such behavior. The reason is that they are required to become pipe smokers, and it is physically impossible to dash through Italian streets in a doublet when you have a pipe in your mouth.

A John, of course, has some slight option about his fate. He may, with great effort, transmute himself into a Jack, in which case he may wear sweaters, throw his pipe away, drive sports cars and engage in muscular activity.

For a person with absolutely no options at all, consider the baby leaving the hospital for a life under the name of Irving. Before his first change of diapers, the Irving knows that he is consigned to the intellectual life, doomed at worst to years with Nietzsche in the library stacks, at best to writing brilliantly denunciatory letters to the editors of elite magazines.

Certain names determine a child's life work in the bassinet. Cavendish Cannon and Outerbridge Horsey had no choice but to enter diplomacy from the day their names went onto their birth certificates, for the baby with two last names is as inexorably earmarked for the diplomatic service as the world's deans. Though a few escape—Chapman Pincher, Brooks Robinson and Dean Martin, for example—they must surely pay a traumatic price in realization that they have let the side down.

The question is whether parents should wield such arbitrary power. Is it just for the decision whether a man is to be a Dudley or a Max to be made without consulting him before he reaches the age of reason? It is not easy to be a Dudley, particularly for a man who is temperamentally and physically disposed to be a Max.

For parents to decide, willy-nilly over a cradle, that a given human being is to be a Dudley rather than a Max or a Roland rather than a Stanley seems to be toying with human destiny. Certain poets, who have been more aware of the name problem than our social scientists, have proposed that a child be allowed to choose his own name after he has had time to investigate the world and determine what he would like to be.

This seems reasonable until we consider the child's vulnerability to fads. At 13, for example, many boys would undoubtedly decide to be Ringo, and we must consider whether, at 40, they will be any happier as Ringos than they would be as Dudleys. Eighteen is hardly a more sensible age for making such a fateful decision. We all know middle-aged men who feel helplessly trapped in their work because wild-eyed kids of 18 decided that they would grow up to be lawyers or psychiatrists or newspaper reporters.

The wiser course might be to defer the decision until the mid-thirties, an age at which a man and wife can sit down with each other and work out a compromise to determine who they really are and whether they would rather be Betty and Bob or Simone and Jean-Paul.

The difficulty here, of course, is that it would mean living half a lifetime as a coded identification number, and by that time they might very well conclude that they are cyphers.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Escalating War

Returning from what must have been a most welcome change at Punta del Este, the President is back again with Vietnam.

It can be argued that here on the home front he has made some gains. He has obtained the approval of Sen. Edward Brooke and a certain amount of approval from Gov. George Romney.

As of now the Republican Party will not run in 1968 as an antiwar party. And if Richard Nixon prevails, the Republicans will outbid the Democrats in their support of Lyndon Johnson. The only fly in the ointment is that no matter what the Republican politicians say about the war, many voters will turn to the Republican Party, as they did in 1952, because there is no other alternative to a Democratic President who has proved that he cannot make peace.

There are enough reservations and qualifications in Gov. Romney's speech to provide the Republican candidate with all the openings he would need if he really intended to end the war by negotiation.

There are many reasons for believing that the situation in Southeast Asia has worsened. First and foremost, as we now know with almost complete certainty, the Soviets and the Chinese have worked out an arrangement to facilitate the supplying of North Vietnam across Chinese territory. This supply line cannot be interrupted except at a direct risk of world war.

Two or three months ago such an agreement would have seemed unlikely. For the Sino-Soviet quarrel was very bitter, and Hanoi gave signs of being much weakened and alarmed. There appeared to have been a shift in the balance of power which was inducing Hanoi to offer a peace conference in return for a cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam.

It is now clear that Hanoi's attitude has hardened and sharpened, and the probable reason for this is that Ho Chi Minh can now count on reinforcements of food and material and, if necessary, manpower from the whole Communist world.

A measure of how the situation has worsened can be found in some remarks made by Gen. William Westmoreland last week. He said that he knew of no better way to win the war than "to go on bleeding" our adversary. The spectacle of an American commander committed by his government to a war of attrition on the Asian mainland, committed to spending American lives in some exchange ratio against Asian lives, is a startling illustration of what has happened to American military and diplomatic leadership in this war.

Imagine Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Gen. Omar Bradley, imagine any of the military leaders and thinkers in our history being placed in a position where the defense of freedom on the globe depended on matching American lives against the manpower of Asia.

The situation has worsened also in South Vietnam. There are many indications that Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky and his junta expect to "legitimize" their dictatorship in the elections being held in the unoccupied parts of South Vietnam. Having done this, they appear to be determined to use their new political power to prevent serious negotiations with the Viet Cong or with Hanoi. Mr. Johnson is riding a tiger, and he will find it difficult to dismount.

As there is the worsened prospect of negotiations among the Vietnamese, as the channels have been opened for indefinite escalation from the Communist side, the outlook is that the scale of the war in men, money and casualties will expand indefinitely. Nixon, Sen. Brooke, even Gov. Romney are quite mistaken if they think that the resistance of the Communists is being fed by the American dissenters. No doubt they like to hear the American dissent and find it encouraging. What is feeding the war is the large industrial potential of the Soviet bloc, the inexhaustible reserves of Asian manpower and the determination not to let the United States install itself on the mainland of Asia.

It is no contribution to this grim situation to pretend that the only alternatives open to us are either to scuttle and run or to escalate to the brink of total war. It is not true that there are no other alternatives and that President Johnson, because he appears to be between two extreme positions, is, therefore, following the only course that is open to us.

There are courses other than the present one which entails the occupation and pacification of all of South Vietnam by the Americans. They are all variants of a strategy which would limit our commitment and reduce the objectives which our troops must achieve.

The fatal objection to the adoption of a defensive and holding strategy, awaiting the time when general negotiations become possible, is that this limited strategy cannot be pictured as a triumphant victory. It cannot be painted up to look like something which it is not.

This is intolerable at the White House which is, so far, unwilling to accept the liquidation of an endless war if it is not made to seem like an heroic and victorious ending.

... BUT LET ME REMIND YOU, WE HAVE TRIED THAT ALREADY!

The Japanese 'Recession'

"Do you know what a 'Japanese recession' is?"

"What?"

"It's an economic rise of only about 5 per cent a year instead of the 10 to 15 per cent yearly increase to which Japan has become accustomed."

"That's a recession? A 5 per cent rise in one year?"

"It's what the Japanese call a recession in their rapidly growing economy. In different percentages, of course, it's the sort of pattern I think the U.S. is developing in 1967."

These were among the comments made by William F. Butler, vice president and nationally-known economist of the Chase Manhattan Bank during a private luncheon in New York last week. I quote him because the intriguing phrase "Japanese recession" may help put into focus what we are experiencing in the U.S. now. Obviously, our economy has slowed down markedly since the spectacular upswing at this time one year ago.

Auto sales in 1967 are way down and all industries tied to this basic industry have been adversely affected. Sales of consumer products going into new houses have been sagging in response to the steep drop in building of new houses in 1966—and all industries directly connected with residential building have been hurt by the housing tailspin. Businessmen are now liquidating the huge, excessive backlogs of goods they accumulated last year and the result is a decline in the Permanent Crime Commission?

HARRISBURG -- It begins to look as though Pennsylvania is destined to wind up with some sort of permanent "crime commission" ere the legislative dust has settled over the 1967 session.

At the present time there is no agency in Pennsylvania's state government which has the broad authority and jurisdiction in the field of crime that many feel is an absolute necessity today.

It is interesting to note perhaps that Governor Shafer during the course of his campaign last fall flatly said one of his programs would embrace establishment of a crime commission.

So far no such legislation has been cranked out of the gubernatorial legislative den for introduction in the Legislature.

Minority Democratic lawmakers on the other hand introduced just such legislation the other day calling for the creation of a "State Crime and Delinquency Commission", which would consist of nine members to be appointed by the Governor for overlapping six-year terms.

Under terms of the Democratic bill the Commission would be given wide authority to examine into the causes, prevention and treatment of crime and delinquency, and to report their recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature. Along this line, the Republican platform adopted last fall in calling for creation of a crime commission, spelled out that the Commission would "serve in an advisory capacity to the Governor"—without reference to the legislative branch.

This however is not regarded as a major point of difference between the two projections and in the opinion of most Capitol Hill observers would not be hard to reconcile.

The point to bear in mind however is that both the anti-administration legislative bloc and the Shafer Administration are pledged to work out some sort of crime commission setup.

Under these circumstances it is to be expected that a commission will be forthcoming from the 1967 session.

It is true Governor Shafer recently established a State Crime Commission to survey the entire field of wrongdoing, the law and the administration justice—but what has been done by executive order can also be undone by executive order, which means a temporary structure at best, subject to the whims of a chief executive.

Legislation would make such a crime commission permanent, not subject to being dissolved at any time by executive order and not subordinate to and dependent upon the Attorney General.

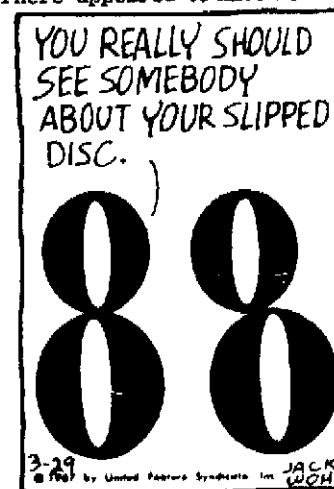

Interestingly, the recent report of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice emphasized the need for all-out war on crime and the causes of crime—and it recommended that every state create a single agency to be "specifically responsible for planning improvements in crime prevention and control and encouraging their implementation action."

There are those who construe Governor Shafer's appointment of his State Crime Commission to be "an" answer to the recommendation of the President's Commission.

Few will dispute that it is "an" answer—but the question arises as to whether it is "the" answer, for one reason (primarily) because of its expediency creation, that is, by executive order rather than by more permanent legislative decree.

The final answer unquestionably is a legislatively-created State Crime Commission—one of permanency, independence and unfettered operation. Legislative favor, at the moment at least, is running in this direction.

Market Continues Upward Movement

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Prices advanced on a broad front in heavy early trading on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday. Gains outnumbered losses by 636 to 612.

Volume rose to 10.36 million shares from 10.50 million Tuesday with all of the increase coming during the first three hours of trading.

The Dow-Jones Industrial Average, up 3.50 at 11 a.m., closed with a gain of 0.94 point to 873.94. That put it less than 3 points from its 1967 high of 876.07 on March 23.

The Dow-Jones utility average closed at a 1967 high of 140.24, up 0.29 point.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index closed at a new high of 50.42, up 0.06 point, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index edged up 0.08 point to a high of 91.94.

The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad stocks rose 0.24 point to 512.57.

Individual issues that scored new 1967 highs rose to 168 from 144 Tuesday. New lows also increased to 10 from Tuesday's 5.

Business Briefs

Cooper Industries, which lists Ajax Iron Works of Corry among its divisions has reported first-quarter sales up five per cent and net earnings up two per cent over the same period last year. Income per share is 71 cents, only slightly above last year because of a two-for-one stock split last year. Total sales were $32,464,000, earnings were $2,268,000.

Chrysler Corp. earnings dropped sharply in the first quarter of this year, slipping from $62.5 million to $18.2 million. Earnings dropped to 40 cents per share from a $1.38 per share. Auto safety legislation and recalls by the industry were blamed in part. Other effects came from tighter credit and economic manipulations by the federal government.

The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority has approved a $3.2 million loan to help finance an $8 million shipbuilding plant at Erie. The Little Great Lakes Corp. will produce ore vessels 1,000 feet long and 105 feet wide for Great Lakes trade.

Corry, Jamestown dealers from throughout the nation today close the first of four sales meetings in Corry. The study will include Corry, Jamestown, some literature and stock supplies.

Pennsylvania Electric Co. has optioned 163 acres of land three miles southeast of Cochranton to build a major substation. The new plant will provide power for a new Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant in Greenwood Township.

Erle Farm Products, one of the area's largest wholesale distributors of restaurant and grocery food products, celebrates its 35th anniversary this month. Open house is scheduled April 30 at the plant at 1500 German st. in Erie. The firm handles Birds Eye frozen products, among other produce.

Calgon Corp. of Pittsburgh has reported a 15.9 per cent increase in sales and revenues and a 14.3 per cent hike in earnings for the first quarter of this year. Per-share earnings are 36 cents, five cents over last year's first quarter. Sales hit $17,329,063 and earnings were $1,297,925.

Teledyne, Inc., now lists Monarch Fuse of Jamestown among its divisions. Teledyne has purchased Penn-Union Electric Corp. of Erie for an undisclosed amount. Penn-Union employs 1,000 persons in Jamestown, Erie, Edinboro, Ansonia and Derby, Conn., and Los Angeles. Penn-Union listed 1966 sales as $23.5 million. No personnel changes are planned. Teledyne now has 14,500 employees, with 1966 sales reported at $266 million.

Railroad Talks Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential mediation panel continued yesterday talks aimed at heading off a threatened nationwide railroad strike May 3.

Informed sources said there was little indication of progress in the wage dispute between the railroads and six shopcraft unions.

The three-man White House mediation panel was appointed after Congress passed a special act last week delaying for 20 days the strike originally threatened April 13.

The Senate Labor Committee is to get a report next Monday on the status of negotiations during the 20-day postponement, and Congress probably will consider more permanent legislation in the dispute if the talks are still deadlocked.

The six unions are demanding a two year agreement with a 7 per cent wage hike the first year, 5 per cent the second year and an additional 15 cents per hour each year for workers with special skills. The railroads have offered a one year agreement with a 5 per cent pay raise.

Indicate Apollo Delay

By ROBERT T. GRAY WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first manned Apollo flight has been delayed at least a year by the spacecraft fire that took the lives of three astronauts, a space agency official indicated yesterday.

Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator for manned space flight, said he believed men could still land on the moon by the original 1970 deadline, "although the probability is lowered."

Mueller testified before the Senate Committee on Aeronautics and Space Sciences. It is considering the request of the National Aeronautical and Space Administration for a $5.1-billion budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Mueller told the committee that the replacement spacecraft for the first manned Apollo mission was on the assembly line at the North American Aviation plant at Downey, Calif.

It incorporates "all changes resulting from the findings of the Apollo accident investigation," Mueller said in a 140-page statement submitted to the committee. Most of it dealt with NASA's plans after the moon landings.

After the Apollo spacecraft comes off the assembly line, Mueller said, it will go through this schedule:

Rework and inspection — "several months."

Checkout — two or three months.

Acceptance review — no specified time.

Shipment to Cape Kennedy, preparation, tests and final checkout prior to launch — four months.

The first manned Apollo flight had been scheduled for this spring. Estimates as to the impact of the fire on the Apollo timetable have varied.

Antennas May Soon Become Obsolete Electronic Device

By VERN HAUGLAND WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said yesterday the unwieldy antennas now used on satellites, missiles and aircraft—and on household rooftops—soon may be outmoded by a tiny German-designed microcircuit device weighing only two or three ounces.

The Air Force said several prototype engineering models of the SIA device—so named for subminiature integrated antenna—have been built at its laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, and they have exceeded the original specifications.

"Design studies are continuing, and final shape of the antenna still is undetermined," the Air Force systems command said in a statement.

"The SIA concept was considered impossible by most antenna authorities three years ago.

Franklin Man Jailed in County

A Franklin man is in the county jail in lieu of posting bail after his arrest Tuesday by Sgt. Donald E. Fitch on a worthless check charge.

Picked up in Butler and returned here was John Matthew Long, 643 Elk st., Franklin.

The charge stemmed from a worthless check passed January 11 of this year at Loblaws' Market in the amount of $22.

Long appeared for preliminary arraignment at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to police.

Canada Planning Viet Peace Force

OTTAWA (AP) — Emergency contingency plans are being drawn up for sending Canadian military personnel to Vietnam as part of any peacekeeping force that might be set up there, a Defense Department spokesman said last night.

At the same time, a Foreign Office spokesman said Canadian peacekeeping experience is being re-evaluated to determine what role Canada might play in Vietnam if terms of reference for the International Control Commission are changed. The commission members are Canada, India and Poland.

Under the present terms, which date from 1954, the commission has no authority to set up a peacekeeping force along the lines of the U.N. operations in Egypt and on Cyprus. Both spokesmen emphasized that the plans are for contingency purposes only—that is, to be put into effect if and when a need for a peacekeeping force in Vietnam is greeted upon by all concerned.

It is normal for the Defense Department to draw up contingency plans for any military operation that might be mounted at some future date, the spokesman said.

Planning for Vietnam began last Tuesday after Foreign Secretary Paul Martin said Canada is prepared to participate in any peacekeeping force that might be sent to Vietnam.

Objector Captain Sues Air Force

By DOUGLAS E. KNEELAND (c) N. Y. Times News Service

DENVER—An Air Force captain's civil suit for classification as a conscientious objector to the Vietnam war opened here yesterday with a discussion of religious humanism. Capt. Dale E. Noyd, a 33-year-old former fighter pilot, does not embrace pacifism. But he contends in his suit in federal district court here that his religious convictions as a humanist prevent him from participating in the war in Vietnam.

Capt. Noyd, an 11-year career officer with two rows of service ribbons brightening his blue jacket, sat erectly and listened as expert witnesses vouched for his sincerity and told how he could have reached his decision through religious humanism.

Among the spectators in the modern wood-paneled courtroom was his 32-year-old wife Sharon. The Noyds, married since 1955, have two children, Erik, 6, and Heather, 2. In the corridor during recess Mrs. Noyd said:

"He feels so strongly about this. I keep wanting to say, 'He's right!' Why can't they understand?"

In what the American Civil Liberties Union calls the first suit of its kind, Capt. Noyd is asking to be classified as a conscientious objector to a specific war.

The suit filed on his behalf by attorneys for the A.C.L.U. asks that the Air Force be ordered to accept his resignation or assign him to duties he could conscientiously perform. The suit also asks $10,000 in damages because his commanding officer withheld a promotion to major after Capt. Noyd had attempted to resign or be classified as a conscientious objector.

After doing graduate work at the University of Michigan from 1960 to 63 at Air Force expense, Capt. Noyd, a 1955 honor graduate in psychology from Washington State University, was assigned to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs.

As a result of his advance degree training he incurred an obligation to remain in the Air Force for six years. From 1963 until last January he taught psychology at the academy, most recently with the title of assistant professor. In December he submitted his resignation.

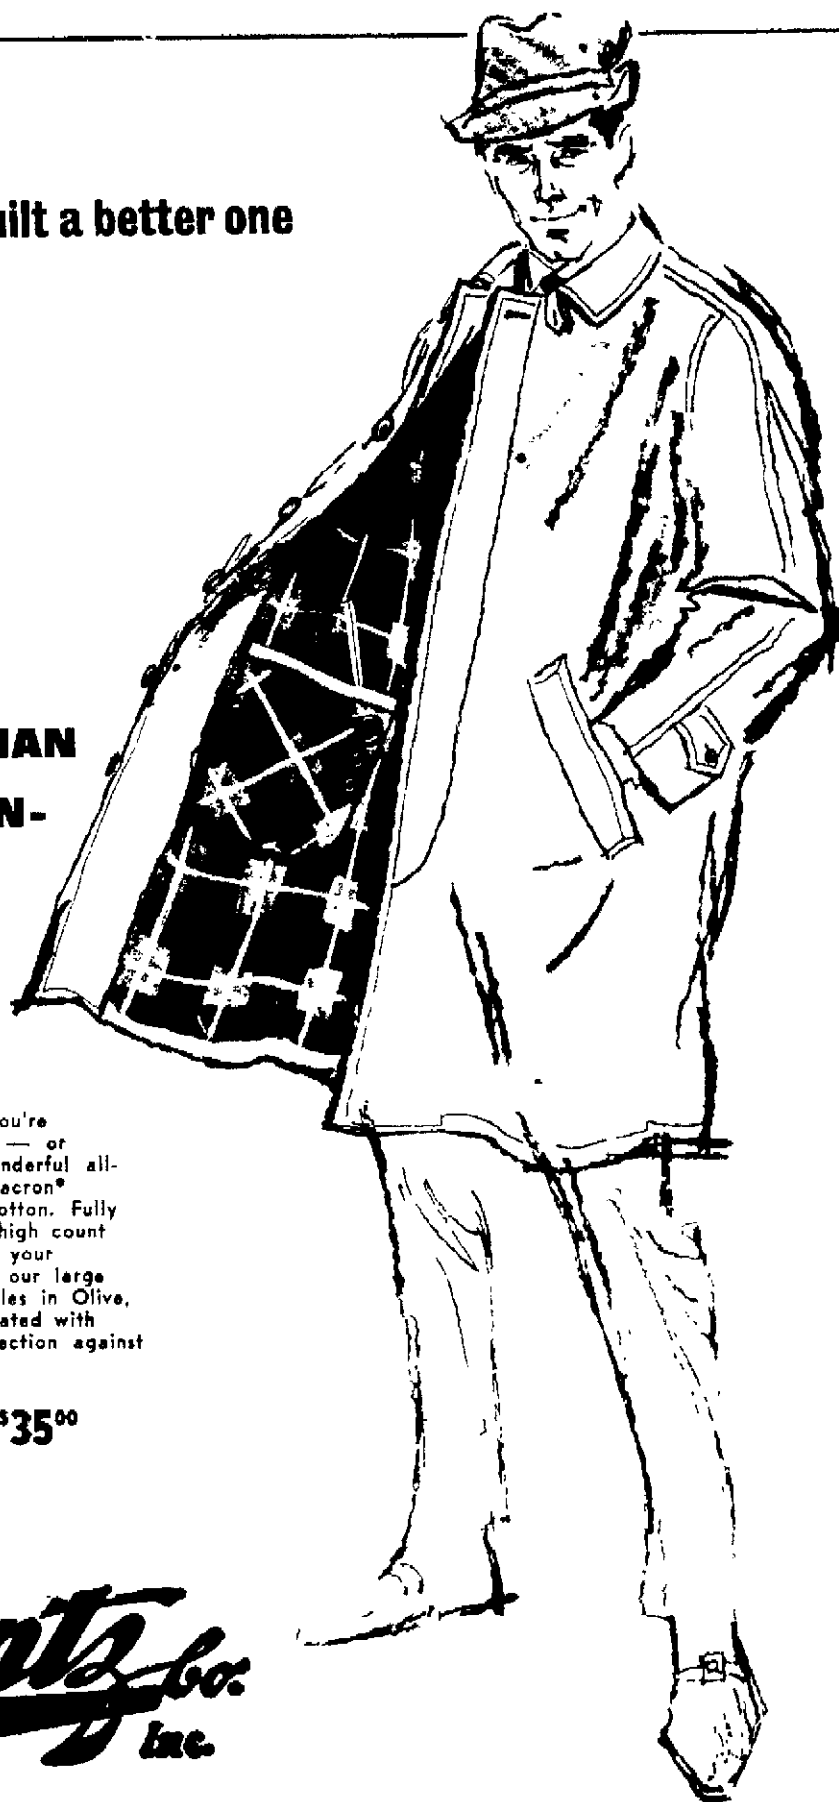

"I must stand on what I am and what I believe," he said. "The war in Vietnam is unjust and immoral, and if ordered to do so I shall refuse to fight in that war."

His attempt to resign was turned down. He also was denied a request that he be given duties that would not conflict with his beliefs.

Cat Inherits Fortune, Babysitter, Doctor

By FRANK MURRAY
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Hazel Kurrus Mathien was a one-cat woman and her pet Siamese is a one-woman cat. Since Mrs. Mathien died April 9 — and while she lay on her death bed for two months — her skittish sealpoint Siamese named Toots has hidden from every person who came around. She also stays well away from traffic.

Is it just loyalty and mourning for her mistress? Or is it because Toots knows she has inherited an estate worth over $50,000 that is hers only as long as her nine lives hold out?

Toots' veterinarian, Dr. J.N. Brown, couldn't say. But he did point out it was unusual for any cat — even the usually temperamental Siamese — not to come near even the person who feeds them.

Dr. Brown said Toots is very healthy.

"But she is about 9 years old and the life expectancy of these animals is about 12 years," Dr. Brown said. "Some live 18 to 20 years, though."

Mrs. Mathien had told her lawyer, James W. Pritchard, she hoped to outlive Toots. Just in case, she rewrote her will three times in five years to be sure Toots would be comfortable, Pritchard said.

"She thought more of that cat than any other person or thing," Pritchard said.

In her will probated in Dade County Court Mrs. Mathien left everything — her two-bedroom house and a portfolio of blue chip stocks — to Toots.

The will provides that "an elderly woman who loves cats live rent free in the house with the cat and care for it."

Money to feed the capitalist cat will be drawn from the estate. If Toots becomes ill, Dr. Brown is to take over, the will said.

CONFIDENTIAL, SIGNIFICANT

NATO Strategy Plans Circulated

By WILLIAM BEECHER

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
BRUSSELS — A highly confidential but potentially significant paper is circulating among various members of the Atlantic alliance looking toward what some diplomatic and military officials describe as a new, more realistic strategy for the defense of Western Europe.

The paper was developed by Supreme Headquarters, Allied Forces in Europe (SHAPE), the alliance's top military command. The headquarters recently moved from Paris to the small Belgium town of Casteau, about 30 miles south of here.

According to reliable sources, the document looks to four alternate strategic concepts:

— A forward strategy, similar to the currently approved approach, putting the bulk of available ground forces forward along the eastern frontier of West Germany.

— A theater reserve strategy, involving a thinning out of the forward wall of troops with strong, highly mobile armored and helicopter units sitting well back of the border ready to move to the point of principal enemy thrust.

— A strategic reserve strategy, envisioning the withdrawal of significant United States and other forces to their own territory, with modern aircraft and fast ships designed to rush them back to the front if intelligence discovers a major enemy buildup.

— An air strike concept depending heavily on large numbers of fighter-bombers to speed to the point of a border incursion and blast the enemy overwhelmingly with nuclear weapons in hopes of dissuading a big attack by quick action.

Each of the strategic approaches, in turn, is based on the availability of successively fewer ground forces along the borders of the Warsaw pact nations. Each looks to the use, initially, of conventional weapons, with tactical nuclear weapons reserved for employment only if all else fails.

Qualified sources made clear that these four plans do not represent a final series of alternatives, but rather are meant to acquaint the alliance members with the sort of choices they will soon have to make in adapting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to a changing situation.

Officials say it is possible that the NATO strategic paper will be brought up for discussion at the defense ministers' meeting in Paris on May 9.

ATTENTION FISHERMEN — WE HAVE THE FISHING BOOTS FOR YOU!

WALT'S FAMILY SHOE STORE
 112 E. MAIN ST. YOUNGVILLE, PA.

DO YOU KNOW THIS MAN?

Major M. F. Kirberger

You should, he worked for you for 23 years, mostly as an administrator. He learned a lot. He specialized in organizational administration and personnel including housing, hospitals, airfield operation and management plus staff command and liaison work.

He spent extra time on his own studying business law and government. He traveled all over the U.S. and the world. Then he retired. He retired too early! He won't be 48 until Tuesday, November 7th, 1967, which oddly enough is general election day. Why don't you republicans nominate him for county commissioner on May 16th.

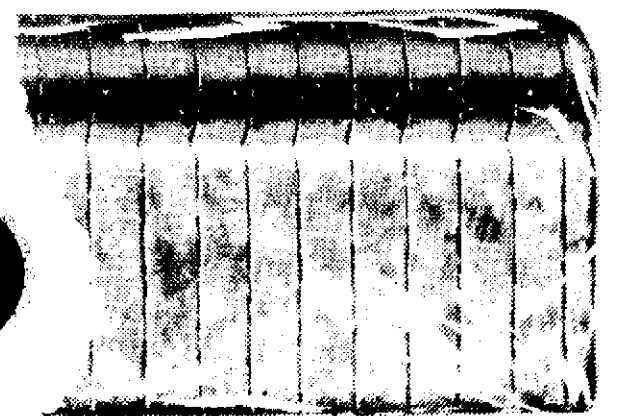

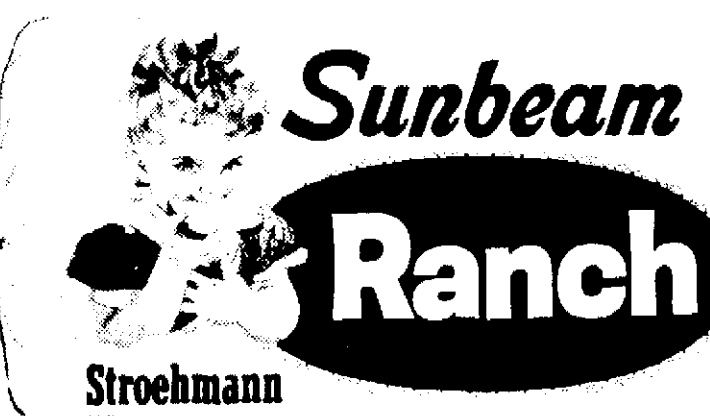

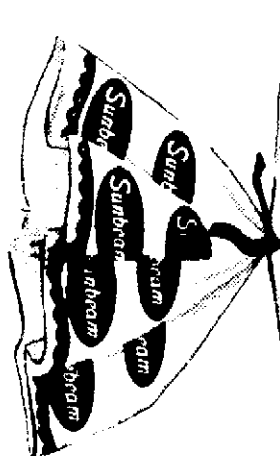

They say he will try harder because he is only number 2 on the ballot. I'm sure he has the background for the job and it would make a nice birthday present — for everybody.

Rope the wild one — Sunbeam Ranch Bread

Rambunctious flavor! Frisky, outdoor freshness! All the lip-smacking goodness of the roaring West, rounded up by Stroehmann. Here's bread your half-pint cowboys will really go for. With the kind of nourishment fast-growers need. Packed in a plastic bag. Tough and strong to guard the freshness. Rope some Sunbeam Ranch Bread, first chance. It's right good eating, pardner.

OUTDOORS by Don Neal

To Bait A Rabbit

Joe Boccardy sent me a booklet published by the Sport Fishing Institute the other day that, I guess, he hoped would bring me more up to date on the matters of modern fish culture, or direct my viewpoint to where it would be more in line with his own. On Joe's part, this could be a protective measure. For it is seldom we get together that we can't discover at least one point of disagreement and spend an hour or two arguing to an absolutely inconclusive end.

We long ago agreed that we are both pretty opinionated persons. And I think we both enjoy testing each other's views. I suppose I have to admit, too, that Joe is pretty hep when it comes to matters of fisheries management. It's just that I form a lot of rather definite opinions myself while spending far more than the average number of hours actively fishing our local streams.

Anyhow, Joe sent me the booklet. And I must say that it was a far more informative piece of literature than is the general run of agency handouts. I found "Fish Conservation Fundamentals" contained a lot of real down to earth commonsense and a wealth of practical suggestions.

The author, R. W. Eschmeyer, came up with one thought, though, that I thought was a gem. In explaining that the hook and line (baited with the most attractive bait or the most publicized lure) is a most ineffective way of harvesting fish, he attempts to illustrate his point. He suggests that the fisherman who thinks hook and line fishing is effective bait a hook with a carrot and try to catch a rabbit.

This isn't as crazy as it sounds. Not when you follow through on the fact the author is trying to establish. That is, that there are generally far more fish in a stream than fishing with hook and line is likely to indicate. If the fish (or rabbits) are plentiful enough you are bound to catch one once in awhile.

For this reason, he is against heavy stocking of streams, at least beyond their carrying capacity, unless trout are stocked in a stream where heavy fishing pressure will account for most of the fish placed in the stream. But this can be a costly practice, he states, for an average limit of legal-sized trout, grown in a hatchery and transported to the scene of stocking, can cost more than is realized from a single license fee.

Adding to this, he points out that the stocking of legal sized warm water fish is so costly that it is absolutely prohibitive. Stockings of bass, walleyes, northerns and muskies should be limited to fingerlings.

One point of agreement I have with the author is the stand he takes on closed seasons. Mostly because it is my opinion, and seemingly his, that our warm water streams are in more danger of being under-fished than over-fished.

In stating his views, he says: "We have no evidence that a closed season is needed on pan fish. Year-round fishing for these species seems desirable.

"A number of states have discarded the closed season on all warmwater fish, thereby greatly increasing the fishing without adverse results. "Where we rely on put-and-take trout stocking, the number of fish available is determined by the number of fish planted. Here, there is little need for a closed season.

"There are undoubtedly instances where a closed season is desirable. However, at times in the past, we have had closed seasons where they were not needed."

In my personal opinion, a closed season when one is not needed is plain robbery where the fisherman is concerned. If a person has the time and desire to go fishing, he should be free to do so unless his fishing will definitely hurt the chances of other fishermen. And I don't think this would be the case on any of our local streams with our native fish populations.

Thousands of trout are stocked each year. If they aren't caught out, then why close the season and submit them to the hazards of wintering over?

It is a known fact that females of the warm-water species produce enormous amounts of eggs. Why do we need to protect them through a spawning season when one tenth of the female population will produce more fry than any stream can accommodate? Eschmeyer states that one walleye female, in one spawning season, can populate an entire lake.

Some states, he says, have abolished both seasons and creel limits without any undue reduction in the fishing potential. Even in Pennsylvania there is one place with year-round trout fishing at a flood control dam, Millwater, and another where the bass and walleye season opens on April 1. Warren County should be so lucky!

Maple Leaf Winger Out With Injury

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens, already favored to win their third straight Stanley Cup championship, will have an additional advantage in the best-of-7 final series against Toronto opening tonight because of the absence of Larry Jeffrey, the Leafs' left winger.

Jeffrey, one of Toronto's top penalty killers, underwent surgery for torn ligaments in his right knee yesterday. He was injured Tuesday night when the Leafs defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 and clinched the semifinal set, four games to two.

The Canadiens, well rested and physically sound, have won their last 10 games, the final six in the regular National Hockey League season plus the four game sweep over New York in the other cup semifinal.

"We're in the best shape we've been all season," said Jean Beliveau, the Canadiens' captain and center. "We didn't play too many games this season with a complete team, but once the injuries were over we came on strong."

The Canadiens and Leafs have met four times in the Cup's final round. Each won twice, Montreal in 1959 and 1960 and the Leafs in 1947 and 1951.

The second game of the series will be played here Saturday afternoon starting at 1:30 p.m., EST, and will be televised in the United States by CBS.

County Hot Stove Lists Fifty Eight Ball Teams

Arrangements were made at Tuesday night's Upper Allegheny Valley Hot Stove League to have 58 teams in the loop this coming season, President Ray Sanders announced yesterday.

The breakdown by age group will be as follows: 20 Bantam League teams, 16 Midgets, 13 Cadets and nine Intermediate. The week of May 22 was set for the tentative openers of the program in the county.

Sanders also announced that Tidoute, which will field seven teams, will be included in the UVAL program this year. The next meeting, he said, has been slated for next Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Warren County Dairy meeting room on Lookout Street in Warren. League officials for the season are as follows: Officers—President—R a y Sanders, Youngsville; Vice President—Bob Graham, Grand Valley; Treasurer—Bill Sandberg, Youngsville; Secretary—Jim Manelick, Youngsville; Equipment Chairmen—B a r t Lohmes, Russell and Candy Chairman—R a y Sanders, Youngsville.

Community Chairmen—Russell—Hank Passinger, Sheffield—Jack Bastow, Clarendon—Bill Baker, Youngsville—Dick Wood and Norman Haight, Pittsfield—Max Smith and Harold Wolbert, Grand Valley—Bob Graham, Sugar Grove—Dave Wright and Tidoute—Charles Coughlin.

Field Chairmen—American Division—Dick Hodak, Pittsfield; Eastern Division—Stan Albough, Clarendon and Western Division—Jerry Frank, Sugar Grove.

Division Chairmen—Bantam-Midget (American)—D i c k Hodak, Pittsfield; Cadet (Western)—Mel Galbraith, Youngsville; Bantam-Midget (Eastern)—Bob Walker, Clarendon and Cadet (Eastern)—S t a n Albough, Clarendon. The Bantam-Midget (Western) Chairman will be named later.

Lud Haller, contest manager, reported that Danny Stojanovich of Industry, while fishing in Sugar Creek over the weekend, caught a 4½-pound brown trout that measured 23½ inches.

Danny used a minnow. His brown lacks only three inches of equalling the length of the trout which won the Haller trout contest last year.

At present Danny has a hold on the $50 first-prize being offered in the contest. Any trout, 15 inches and longer, can be entered in the second part of the contest which will pay the angler entering most trout over 15 inches, $25 when the season ends in September.

The only catch is that the trout must be taken in Venango, Forest, Warren and Crawford counties and must be weighed and measured at Hallers.

A fishing license is all that is needed (by adults) to enter the competition.

Philly 76ers Plan Change After Loss

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "We'll have to make adjustments defensively for Thursday night's game," declared Philadelphia 76er coach Alex Hannum whose forces felt to some hot shooting by San Francisco's Warriors.

The 130-124 triumph at the Cow Palace on Tuesday night left San Francisco still trailing the 76ers 2-1 in their best-of-7 playoff final but put the Warriors back in contention for the National Basketball Association title.

Rick Barry fired in 55 points and Jim King chipped in with 28 as the Warriors returned to the arena where they haven't lost this season.

"The victory gave us confidence," declared Warrior Coach Bill Sharman. "The biggest reason for the home court advantage is the inspiring crowd."

Physically the Warriors are in better shape than for the first two games in Philadelphia. Only Fred Hetzel, with an ankle injury, remains doubtful.

Barry was able to practice this week for the first time since injuring his left ankle in the St. Louis playoff series. Nate Thurmond evidenced little adverse effects from his sore hip, suffered in a Philly spill.

"That was one of the best games that Nate has played against Wilt Chamberlain the entire year," observed Sharman. The 6-foot 11-inch pivot-man got 17 points and grabbed 25 rebounds.

Chamberlain led the Philadelphia scorers with 26 points and 26 rebounds. Hal Greer and Chet Walker each tallied 21 points, as fine defensive play by little Al Attles helped keep the scorers in check.

"Barry sure can get unconscious at times," commented Hannum who coached Barry at San Francisco last season.

"Those corner shots by King and his driving shots also hurt. We gave him the corners."

Dallas Open Starts, Palmer Heads Field

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, in his accustomed place as leading money winner of golf, makes his first try for the big prize of the Greater Dallas Open since 1961 as he heads a field of 145 that moves out today.

The tournament has a purse befitting Palmer's standing in the game—he is the all-time leading money-winner—with $100,000 posted for the pros to shoot at over the 6,777-yard par 35-35-70 Oak Cliff Country Club Course. First money is $20,000.

Palmer was lured here, it is said, by the excellent condition of the course and as a favor to his pal, Comedian Bob Hope. Hope wanted Palmer to come here because he is interested in a scholarship fund that benefits from a pro-amateur played yesterday.

Regardless of how they got Arnie, it means tournament officials can claim the finest field in the nine-year history of the event. Just getting Palmer, who has played in this tournament only once, was considered a master stroke.

Unless weather such as dogged the tournament last year pays a return visit, a big profit is expected to be made. The advance ticket sale already has made it a financial success. More than $125,000 was in the till before activities started.

Roberto De Vicenzo, the man from Argentina who won it last year before he was even noticed in the bunched field, is back. There are seven of the 10 top money winners, with Palmer, No. 1 with $73,273, dueling Gay Brewer, second with $66,347.

Doug Sanders, Bobby Nichols, Frank Beard, Bob Goalby and Bert Yancey are other members of the top 10 playing here.

SETS RECORD; LARIS SECOND

New Zealander Surprise Boston Marathon Winner

By DAVE OHARA
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Dave McKenzie, a pint-sized iron man from New Zealand, ended Japanese domination of the Boston A.A. Marathon in a decisive fashion yesterday, charging through the cold rain for a record clocking of 2 hours 15 minutes and 45 seconds in the 71st annual Patriot's Day classic.

The 24-year-old McKenzie crushed the four-man Japanese contingent on the hills about five miles from the finish and streaked to an easy victory.

Tom Laris, former two-mile Ivy League champion from Dartmouth College, also picked up lost ground on the hills and came through with a blistering kick to capture second place in 2:16:48.

Yutaka Aoki made a strong bid for a third straight Japanese triumph in the 26 mile, 385 yard run from Hopkinton to Boston, but faded after trying to catch McKenzie on Heartbreak Hill in Newton.

Aoki actually closed to within about 30 yards, but the effort was too much and he was passed by Laris in the closing stages of the long grind.

Aoki settled for third place in 2:17:17. Unheralded Lou Castagnola, a Washington federal government worker, was fourth in 2:17:48, while Italian champion Antonio Ambu was fifth in 2:18:04.

Andy Boychuk, Canadian national champion, was sixth in 2:18:17, followed by Japan's Takashi Inoue in 2:20:41 and Tooru Terasawa in 2:21:17. Petty Officer Danny McFadden of the British navy in 2:22:06, and Finland champion Kalevi Takasi in 2:22:07.

Three girls turned up in the race — one of them a blonde listed on the official entry as "K. Switzer of Syracuse." She wore number 261.

The other two were unofficial. One, identifying herself as Roberta Gibb, 23, of Winchester, Mass., a UCLA student, hopped out of the shrubbery near the start. The other said she was Rocky Chamberlain, 14, of Newcomb, N.Y.

None finished. McKenzie, a 5-foot-4, 120-pound newspaper printer, boasted his fourth marathon victory since Jan. 28 in overpowering the field and shattering the course record of 2:16:33, set by Morio Shigematsu of Japan when he lead a 1-2-3-5-6 Japanese finish in 1965.

A year ago, another team of Sons of Nippon was sent to Boston and finished 1-2-3-4 after running opposition into the ground.

Terasawa, who finished third in 1966, led three newcomers in this year's invasion as Japan's top distance runners were assigned to prepare for the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City.

The Japanese were unable to surmount their competitors as a heavy rain pelted the course and the temperature held around 40 degrees.

The top contenders pulled away from a record field of 601 starters and set records at all six checkpoints.

Boychuk had a lead of a few inches on McKenzie at Auburn-dale, 17¼ miles along, but Aoki, Inoue, Ambu, Terasawa, and Castagnola were right behind.

Mexico's Luis Buedia, Laris, and Hidekuni Hiroshima of Japan were close to the pack.

McKenzie then opened up, heading into the first of three hills, and took a 15 yard lead over Terasawa. The freckle-faced, redhead from New Zealand widened his margin to about 30 yards and then 50 after the second hill as Aoki tried to keep pace.

Aoki shortened the gap on the steepest hill, but McKenzie quickly pulled away and was in command the rest of the way. "It was very cold and my calf muscles got very stiff, but I was not overly tired at the finish," McKenzie said. "This is easily my biggest victory."

McKenzie, who never ran outside his native land before, has won nine of 11 marathons since he dropped out after 19 miles in his initial test. He has won six in a row and looms as a definite Olympic threat.

Ellis Leaps Loops, So Lakers Sue

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets announced yesterday that 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis has signed a contract with the New York affiliate of the new American Basketball Association.

A spokesman for the Bullets said that Ellis refused to sign a National Basketball Association contract yesterday and said that the Bullets would sue Ellis, the New York ABA club, and the ABA "for injunctive relief and damages."

The suit has not yet been filed, said the spokesman.

In a statement, the Bullets said that Ellis had breached his NBA contract — which gives the club renewal rights until Sept. 1 — and had jeopardized his professional basketball career.

The club spokesman quoted Ellis as saying he had signed a contract calling for a $30,000 salary for one year.

Barnes said one of the major problems confronting modern transportation is "to lure the motorist back to mass transit" and free city streets choked with cars carrying one pas- senger. Among high priority items he proposed were operation of local and commuter rail facilities on joint rights of way, closer meshing of schedules among different modes of transportation, express bus lines and additional feeder bus lines to main rail lines. "So far as I can see," Barnes said, "the only manner in which we can meet and contain the threat of potential traffic strangulation in our cities is to establish systems of balanced transportation in which both rubber and rails complement and support each other." Barnes said that "only through modernization, expansion and full utilization of its mass transit facilities in a balanced system of transportation can the modern city reduce the onrush of unessential private transportation which is overburdening our roads today." Gilman said two experimental projects concerning the exclusive use of a highway lane by buses were under study at the Lincoln Tunnel approach in New Jersey and near the George Washington Bridge. He said another study is being conducted to determine the feasibility of a bus which can operate on railroad tracks as well as on highways.

Shafer Backs Entrance Into Pollution Compact

By PAUL ZDINAK HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill to authorize Pennsylvania's entry into the proposed Mid-Atlantic States Air Pollution Control Compact was introduced in the Senate yesterday with the backing of the Shafer administration.

A similar measure was introduced in the House Tuesday with Democratic support. Republicans have slim majorities in both chambers.

The proposed compact would provide for the control and abatement of air pollution in several states in the Northeast.

New York has passed the proposal. It is now before the New Jersey legislature. If New Jersey and then the federal government approve it, the compact would go into effect.

Several neighboring states then could join the compact if they wish. These include Pennsylvania, Delaware and Connecticut.

Gov. Shafer urged in his recent conservation message to the Legislature that Pennsylvania join the compact.

Some highlights of the proposal:

Minister Defies Dr. King

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY CHICAGO (AP) — A Negro pastor in a West Side slum area said yesterday that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. should "get the hell out of" Chicago.

The Rev. Henry Mitchell, minister of the North Star Missionary Baptist church, made the suggestion at a news conference at the church. The church is a block away from the apartment King rented last year when he opened a drive for better jobs, education and housing for Chicago's Negroes.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said recently that marches will be resumed in Chicago unless faster progress is made in solving Negro problems.

"We're going to do everything in our power to prevent a hot summer," said the Rev. Amos Waller of the Mercy Seat Missionary Baptist church, an associate of the Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell said marches led by King and his associates in white neighborhoods last summer "created hate."

"What do you suggest that Dr. King do?" a newsman asked.

"I suggest," he replied, "that he get the hell out of here."

"The marchers don't represent the mass of Negro people, who prefer to live in their community," he said.

He told reporters his group has contacted more than 5,000 persons and "encouraged them not to participate" in marches.

SENATE COMMITTEE TOLD

Natural Gas Pipelines 'Dangerous'

By B. DRUMMOND AYRES JR. (c) N. Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON—The pipes that carry natural gas across the United States and into thousands of homes, offices and factories are largely unregulated and pose a dangerous threat to all Americans, the Senate Commerce Committee was told yesterday.

The warning came from the Secretary of Transportation, Alan S. Boyd, and the chairman of the Federal Power Commission, Lee C. White, who appeared before the committee to support a bill that would create the natural gas pipeline safety act of 1967.

Of all the major areas of interstate commerce, both men noted, only natural gas transmission lines are not subject to comprehensive federal regulation.

The power commission has authority to investigate pipeline accidents and can specify certain safety standards in granting permits for new lines. But government officials regard such power as insufficient.

The 1967 safety bill, which President Johnson requested in his February congressional message on consumer interests, would give the Department of Transportation power to set standards governing all lines used for gathering, transmitting and distributing natural, manufactured or other flammable gases.

The outlook for the bill is cloudy. As the nation's sixth largest industry in terms of capital assets, the natural gas companies maintain a Washington lobby that has successfully opposed many regulatory efforts in past years but now shows signs of weakening.

Meanwhile, a counter lobby favoring regulation—particularly safety laws—has been gaining strength, aided by a power commission report pointing up pipeline shortcomings of the sort discussed yesterday and advocated by Ralph Nader, the safety crusader.

Damage Is $175 In Route 6 Crash

Property damage was estimated to total $175 in a two-car traffic mishap which occurred at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday on Route 6 in Stoneham.

State police trooper Daniel L. Portzer, who investigated, said a car driven by Agnes Flasher, 58, of 48 Railroad st., Clarendon, entered Route 6 from township route T-413 and was struck in the rear by a car operated by John L. Baker, 49 Mill st., Sheffield, traveling east on Route 6.

The driver of the Flasher car complained of neck pains but was not treated, police said.

D. H. (Deac) Lay
A Loyal Life-Time Republican
Elect him to a second term as FULL TIME County Commissioner.

Some years ago the duties of the office of Warren County Commissioner were fewer, simpler, and easier than now. It seemed to be accepted that a man with his own business, or a man unable to work a full week, could be elected county commissioner, come in a couple of mornings or days a week, take care of the county business, and collect a small salary equal to the work required then.

Those conditions no longer exist. Warren County can no longer afford County Commissioners who regard Warren County Government as a moon-lighting soft second job. "More time", "enough time", or "forty hours a week" with a large part of your time and interest spent on managing your own business is no longer enough. The salary is high enough to demand full time effort and thought. Anything less is cheating the taxpayers.

Warren County Government is indeed Big Business, not only because of the amount of money that must be handled with wisdom and economy, but also because of the equal importance of solving the serious, urgent problems concerning our acute housing shortage, care of the elderly, development of the full potential of the Allegheny Reservoir and Kinzua Dam Area, encouragement of industrial development, transportation highways and airports for industry, citizens, and tourists, proper care of unfortunate children, planning and zoning, and many others that our grandfathers did not have.

The time for working to solve these problems is now. Short-sighted thinking, poor judgment, actions motivated by spite, or no action at all can hamper the economy and prosperity of Warren County for many years to come.

I have gained a valuable background of knowledge and information to give me a head start on studying specific problems. I have consulted many persons and attended many meetings. It has taken much time but it has been worth it. I shall continue to take time for it.

These are some of the organizations and meetings that I have participated in or attended:

- Agricultural Extension Association
- Soil Conservation Meetings
- Industrial Development Association
- Kinzua Dam Tourist Bureau (I have worked in our booth at the Cleveland Sport Show three years. My wife helped two years.)
- Township Supervisor's Meetings
- Borough Council Meetings
- Highway Planning Meetings and Hearings
- Northwest Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission. (Also helped to develop this.)
- State and Federal sponsored meetings on Care of the Elderly and other current problems.
- Warren County Council of Boy Scouts
- Camp Blue Jay Advisory Council
- Youngsville Warren County Fair Association
- Civil Defense
- Warren Rescue
- All community celebrations for which I have been invited.
- Pennsylvania Farmers' Association and other agricultural meetings.
- Do you agree with me that I am a full time commissioner?

YMCA Accepting Applications for Summer Camping Program

The Warren YMCA Camp Committee yesterday announced registration is now open for a YMCA summer camping program.

The camping program consists of a Canadian canoe trip, day camp for girls, day camp for boys, and a boy's resident camp on Lake Chautauqua.

A brief description of the camps:

1. Canadian canoe trip begins Saturday June 10 at 6 a.m. from the YMCA. This is for boys age 13 to 18. The canoe trip will be located in the Algonquin Park, on Ontario Provincial Park, which is being preserved as a wilderness area. The Algonquin Park is located north of Toronto, just south of North Bay, at Huntsville, Ontario. A six-day canoe trip is planned in the Algonquin Park with two days allotted for traveling. We will arrive at Algonquin Park Saturday evening. Tents will be waiting for us on our arrival. The next morning we will start our six day journey into the wilderness on a route that has been planned in advance. During the six days of the canoe trip, the boys will have the adventure of their life and a real opportunity to get close to nature. On our return from the trip, tents and hot showers will be waiting for our use. The next morning, Saturday, June 17, we will leave for home. Two qualified adult leaders will accompany the boys on the trip. Kenneth Hale, Camp Director of the Warren YMCA Camps and Mr. Nick Wendelboe will be the leaders. Boys must be 13 years old and be able to pass the swimming test and a physical examination.

2. Girls' day camp will be held at the Sheffield Rod and Gun Club located two miles from Sheffield about 15 minutes from Warren. Girls will be a chance to participate in archery, athletics, air rifles, swimming (both instruction and recreational), hiking, nature lore, pony riding, overnight campout on Thursdays, cook-outs, trampolining, and crafts.

Campers report to the Y each day, at 9 a.m. and travel by bus to camp. Girls may sign up for one or two weeks: The first week is June 19 to June 23 and the second week is June 26 to June 30. This is for girls in grades 1-6. They must have completed first grade.

3. Boy's day camp will be held at the Sheffield Rod and Gun Club also, with activities to interest all boys. Boys may sign up for one, two or three weeks. The dates are: July 10 to July 14, July 17 to July 21, and July 24 to July 28. Registration fees for Y members is $14 per week, and for non-members $16 per week. This is for boys in grades 1 through 6.

4. The Warren YMCA is using the Camp Onyasha again this year, located on Chautauqua Lake. Boys 8 years through 16 years of age may sign up for one or two weeks—Aug. 13-19, and Aug. 20-26. The program, this year will consist of archery, crafts, sports, nature, air rifles, canoeing, boating, hiking, swimming, campfires, water-skiing, and power boating. A special new feature this year will have all boys spending a night in the Chautauqua Gorge as part of the total Adventure Camp program.

Any girl or boy wishing to attend any or all of these fine summer camping programs should register at the YMCA early to avoid disappointment. Camp brochures will be distributed and information will be available at the Warren YMCA.

AT MAY HEART MEET

Joseph Williamson Is Speaker Here

Joseph A. Williamson, former administrator of Warren General Hospital, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Allegheny Mountain Heart Association.

Williamson is a Fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators; member of the American Hospital Association; the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania and a member of the Governor's Hospital Study Commission.

He is the author of numerous articles published in professional journals, dealing with a variety of hospital management subjects, including finance, organization, disaster planning, purchasing and methods improvement.

As Commissioner of General and Special Hospitals, Williamson is responsible for more than 300 hospitals in the Commonwealth. He has had a major role in the certification of hospitals eligible to participate in Medicare and administers the federal Hill-Harris capital improvement program.

Four of Akeley Injured in Florida Crash

RUSSELL — Two Akeley couples, en route home after spending the winter in Sarasota Springs, Fla., were injured Monday in a traffic accident in Tampa, Fla.

According to word received here, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haller and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arthur were traveling together, the Haller car in the lead. A third vehicle ahead of the Haller car stopped as did the latter. The Arthur car, unable to stop, struck the rear of Haller's vehicle.

Mrs. Arthur was admitted to the hospital in Tampa with a broken arm suffered in the mishap. The other three escaped serious injury.

The most extensive damage was to the Arthur's car, which is expected to be operable by the end of the week. The Warren County people will then start for home again.

USING IT FOR STUDIES

tion at WSH, where the brain will be used; Dr. Robert Israel, hospital superintendent and Robert Van Ullen, mental hospital representative of the Buffalo regional office. (Photo by Mansfield)

State Hospital Gets Model Plastic Brain

Warren State Hospital yesterday received the gift of a costly brain model for use in the hospital's teaching program.

The model, donated to the institution by the Schering Corp., is an elaborately detailed structure and multi-colored for clearer identification of the brain's many components. An intricate construction design permits a breakdown of the model into individual sections for minute study and demonstration in teaching neurology and brain anatomy.

Schering representatives on hand for the presentation reported WSH was selected for the gift because of its outstanding teaching programs for physicians in its psychiatric residency program.

Making the presentation for Schering were J. Robert Davis, divisional manager and Robert Van Ullen, mental hospital representative of the Buffalo divisional office.

The model brain was received by Dr. Robert H. Israel, WSH superintendent and Dr. Arthur Hoshino, clinical director in charge of education.

Fish is 23½ Inches

TIONESTA — Danny Stojanovich landed a 23½-inch brown trout in Sugar Creek over the weekend to take the lead in the Tionesta trout derby. His fish weighed 4½ pounds and was caught on a minnow. To qualify, trout must be more than 15 inches.

FOR TOTAL OF $152,305

County Has 174 Under Student Loan Program

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau) HARRISBURG — One hundred seventy four Warren County youths currently are taking advantage of the state student loan program inaugurated nearly three years ago, a check with the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency indicated yesterday.

These college loans to the Warren County students total $152,305, according to Kenneth R. Reher, executive director of the state agency.

Reher underscored the point that loans granted by the agency run from year to year, not on a flat four-year basis. This means that the loan must be approved for each year—based primarily on successful completion of the preceding academic year.

The record for Warren County on the student loan program stands as follows:

Forty-six youths from the county have been approved for loans covering their freshman year at college, with total value of these freshman loans rounding out to $42,760.

Forty-nine are on the approved loan list for their sophomore year at college, involving $40,560.

Thirty-nine are drawing loans valued at $34,640 covering their junior year at college. Thirty-four Warren County youths are on the schedule for their senior year with these loans amounting to $23,345.

Six have been approved for the year for graduate school work, with these loans totaling $6,000.

Clark Newsletter May Be Violation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department has been asked by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., to rule on whether a newsletter he sent to constituents containing an opinion poll violated congressional franking privileges.

Scores of members of Congress send newsletters and questionnaires under their free mailing privileges.

The question of whether Clark's office has violated the privilege appears to be based on one question he asked in the newsletter that could be considered political.

It asked: "Do you think I should run again for the Senate in 1968?"

This was one of a number of questions Clark asked in his poll. Others asked constituents' opinions of the Vietnam conflict and one asked for a priority ranking on a dozen current issues.

An opinion on the controversy is expected within 24 hours from Postmaster Gen. Lawrence O'Brien or his legal staff, a Clark aide said yesterday.

The aide said that if it is decided that Clark owes money for the mailing fees, it will be paid. About 125,000 of the newsletters were sent to Pennsylvania constituents on Clark's mailing list. At the rate of five cents an envelope, the cost could amount to $6,250.

Youngsville Kiwanians Hear of Y

The Youngsville Kiwanis Club took note of YWCA Week at their regular Tuesday meeting.

Mrs. Robert Whitehill, first vice president of the YWCA, was the speaker and told of projects sponsored by the organization, noting the new program — that of "Friendly Town."

Mrs. Whitehill said that, at the present time, the "resident" part of the project has been filled with 22 girls to occupy rooms (already filled up) and a long waiting list.

According to the YWCA representative, the Y membership is the highest it has ever been with 800 adults and 300 Y-Teens.

President Howard Husted announced the sale of flowering crab trees is progressing well. He said, however, more trees are available and can be delivered by calling him or any other Kiwanian.

The chicken barbecue committee reported the June 10 date set for the annual affair must be cancelled with the new date to be announced.

There were 20 members present with Mrs. Howard Husted a special guest.

Erie's Home Show Opens For 5 Days

ERIE — The five-day Home Show 1967 opened here yesterday at the Penlee Service Center, emphasizing construction for the homeowner.

The show, which features a model home built inside the Service Center, will be open from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. through Friday, Saturday and Sunday hours are from 1 to 10 p.m.

Early American furniture used in the home will go to those registered for and winning show awards. There are 100 booths set up by individual companies. They will be manned by personnel prepared to answer any questions on building ideas.

Move on Sidewalks

CORRY — City Council has decided to do something about the condition of the city's sidewalks, but it isn't quite sure what it will do. The city solicitor is working on the problem.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

Confused about urban renewal? I don't blame you, but perhaps I can share what I've learned in a way that will make it clearer to all of us.

Urban renewal is rather like a very large Monopoly game. The major players are the Housing and Urban Development Agency (HUD) on one side and the Local Public Agency (LPA) on the other. Minor players on the HUD side are the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA), the Public Housing Administration (PHA), the Small Business Administration (SBA), and the Department of Commerce (DC). On the LPA side are the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC), agencies of Local Government (LG), the Planning Commission (PC), the Parking Authority (PA), and the Library Association (LA).

There are certain key points on the board which outnumber the actual pieces of real estate. This is to keep the game interesting. The key points are the Program For Community Improvement (PFCI), otherwise known as the Workable Program; Survey and Planning (S&P), Part One, Part Two, Neighborhood Analysis (NA), and Administrative Organization.

Each game is known as a Project. It is often possible to play two or more games at once, depending upon how dexterous one is at playing. HUD and its minor players have several thousand Projects underway at the same time, in much the same way as computers play chess.

The important tactics of the game are certification, recertification, application, organization, administration, duplication, and subsidization.

To start the game, LPA makes application to HUD for certification of the PFCI. HUD controls subsidization, a large piece of the administration, most of the organization, and at least 90 per cent of the duplication.

The ultimate goal is subsidization of the Project through recertification and approval of application. This, of course, uses up most of the LPA administration and part of the organization, and almost invariably introduces some duplication. One of the most damaging moves the LPA can make is trust. This leads to mortification and ends the game.

SOCIAL
Wanderings
by Marion Honhart

A WORK BEE ON THE STRAW HAT THEATRE BARN is scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 o'clock on both afternoons. All persons interested in summer theatre for this area — whether as participants or spectators — will be welcome to lend a hand and join in the fun and work. The barn is located on the Plowright Farm on Scandia road. In the meantime, Edie O'Hara, producer, asks that everyone start thinking of an appropriate name for the theatre. All suggestions may be sent to Warren Summer Theatre, Headquarters, 7 Second avenue. As a sort of guide she listed a few names already in use that might suggest an appropriately descriptive name for this theatre which is located in one of the loveliest of the many scenic areas in the state: Little Theatre of the Rockies; Nutmeg Playhouse; White Barn Theatre; Shady Lane Playhouse; Corn Stalk Theatre; Candlelight Playhouse; Pheasant Run Playhouse; Painters Mill Playhouse. A couple of names already submitted for consideration are Kinzua Krest and Mountain View Playhouse. Well, put your imaginations to work; take a drive up Scandia way, and see if just the absolutely right name doesn't pop into your mind — If it does, and you win the contest, the prize is two season tickets. One more thing, auditions for summer theatre are continuing this Friday, and next Friday, April 28th, in the Hospitality Room at Northwest Savings and Loan Building from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

WANTED, THE FOLLOWING '41 CLASSMATES OF WHS: Joanne Mackay Gurney, Charles Zurcher, Ann Ringler Macy, and Warren Miller who is believed to have relatives on Follett Run road. Anyone knowing of their possible whereabouts is asked to call Betty Loney Geer at 723-1390. The class reunion plans for July 29th are progressing and include a social mixer in the Knights of Columbus Hall from 5:30 to 7 p. m. when dinner will be served, followed by dancing in the K of C from 9:30 to 1:30 to the music of a local orchestra.

MINIATURES: Court St. Thomas 1494 Catholic Daughters of America in Franklin have extended an invitation to Court Warren No. 834 to attend their reception of new members this Sunday, April 23rd, at 2:30 in Dion Auditorium. Reservations are not required.

Hints From Heloise

On Growing Flowers

DEAR HELOISE: I am a retired florist and would like to give some tips to your housewives who grow their own flowers. Cut flowers last longer if all the leaves are removed from any stem that is under the water. The leaves sap up the power of life in a cut flower. The main point is to get water to the bud itself.

If you have no proper frog or foam, the extra leaves and sprigs may be tucked into the flower container. Often, sprigs of foliage with leaves still attached (such as stems from hedges) may be tucked down into a deep vase and used as a perfect flower arrangement.

For some types of flowers, such as marigolds, a few drops of household bleach, added to the water before placing the flowers in, will help keep the stems down.

And more power to you.

Heloise. My wife absolutely loves you. Larry Solsberg
And thanks to you, sir. Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: Know those tiny jars with twist caps that are sometimes so hard to open? Try releasing the vacuum by punching a hole in the top with a V-type bottle opener. . . makes all the difference in the world. This is especially good if it's a tiny jar of something you will use immediately. Again

Grange News

At the regular meeting of Diamond Grange recently the Prince and Princess were chosen.

At the meeting of Diamond Grange recently the Youth Degree team conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of six candidates. Hope Nelson, Youth chairman, lit the Centennial candle. Present also were the Prince and Princess chosen at the Youth Conference in Edinboro, David Spencer and Sandra Durnell. As distinguished guests, they were escorted to the master's station by assistant stewards.

During the business meeting, it was voted to sponsor a Hot Stove League team, and Chuck Johnson was named as captain. On Monday of this week, Lecturer Mabel Rapp took the visitation program from Diamond Grange to Warren Grange; the program theme was "Grange Service" stressing these six services: Agriculture, credit union, insurance, home economics, legislation, and youth. Taking part in demonstrating the categories were Mabel Rapp, Ralph Rapp, Margaret Christian, Fern Hannold, Herm Ristau, Jean and Chuck Johnson. Margaret Christian then read "It's Fishing Time", and "A Patriotic Family"; Leroy Himes entertained with songs and his guitar; the ladies from Diamond Grange sang four numbers.

A certificate was presented to the Warren lecturer by Mrs. Rapp. Diamond Grangelecturer. Pomona Lecturer explained the emblem for visitation meetings, which this year is "The Weather Vane". The entire program was brought to a close with the singing of the Centennial Song, and a prayer by the chaplain.

The following dates are to be remembered: Fish supper, April 29, Diamond Grange Hall, put on by Diamond Grange; a rummage sale on May 4, 5 and 6, two doors beyond Kuhre's Meat Market; the monthly sewing group will be held at Mabel Rapp's home on Brown Run road, next Wednesday, April 26. All ladies of the grange are invited to come.

Chandlers Valley Grange No. 846 held its regular meeting at which an April Fool's Day surprise program was enjoyed. The lecturer's program was put on by Shirley Ann Johnson with

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT L. ENDRESS

Golden Wedding

A reception attended by two hundred was held in Memorial Parlors of First Presbyterian Church in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Endress on Sunday, April 16, from two to five o'clock.

Mrs. Endress was presented a yellow rose corsage by her husband and received their guests in a blue crepe dress. Decorations were carried out in gold and white and a centerpiece of white and yellow snapdragons with carnations. Granddaughters Kathy and Carolyn Farynowski and Barbara Kaufman poured tea, coffee and served punch, with Linda Endress taking care of the guest book.

Gospel Business Men's Fellowship

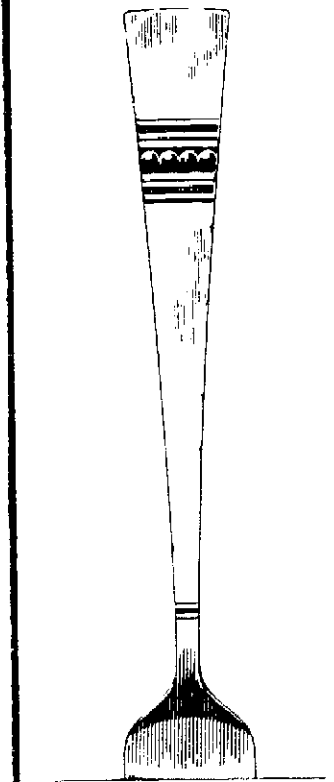

A dinner meeting at the Holley Hotel in Bradford, will take place tomorrow evening at 6:30. Called the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship, men and women of all faiths and all occupations are invited to attend.

To concoct a tartar sauce that tastes especially delicious with fish or seafood, add plenty of drained capers to the mayonnaise preparation. If you like large-size capers, look for jars of them in the section of a food market that is stocked with Spanish-style foods. Regular bottled capers, available in all large food markets, are small-size.

Regular spoonbread made with cornmeal is delicious, but so is the variety of spoonbread that is made with cooked hominy grits.

District Meeting Held Sunday
By Lutheran Church Women

Lutheran Church Women of Warren-McKean District of the Lutheran Church of America, Western Pennsylvania - West Virginia Synod, will meet at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Water Street in Warren on Sunday, April 23, from 3 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. when supper will be served by the hostess LCW of St. Paul's Church. Two hundred women are expected. The Rev. Carl Nelson, pastor of this church, will bring greetings and prayer.

Mrs. Edmund Price of Pittsburgh, president of the LCW General Assembly which includes the United States and Canada, will be the principal speaker. She also will show African pictures taken on a world tour for those who care to see them in the sanctuary at 7:30 p. m.

Theme for the District Assembly is "God Working Through Us" built upon the general theme chosen for the year by the church in emphasis of the Manifesto made upon the 450th anniversary of the Reformation. Mrs. Price will use the brief theme, "The Challenge."

Starbrick PTA Elections
Installation Of Officers Later

The following officers for 1967-1968 were elected at the recent meeting of the Starbrick Parent Teachers Association: President, Mrs. Bonita Bobelak; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Hedrick; secretary, Mrs. Betty Dickerson; treasurer, Mrs. Jane Conquer. The officers will be formally installed at the May twelve dinner meeting.

Richard Brown of the Office of Economic Opportunity and Robert Meneely of the Federal Housing Authority were the speakers of the evening and conducted a question and answer period afterwards.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kay Richards, Mrs. E. Hedrick and Mrs. Rachel McElhattan. The attendance award was a tie between Miss Kennedy's 2nd Grade and Mrs. Firth's 4th grade.

The members were reminded of the student-parent skating party which is to be held on Tuesday, April 25.

The Halls Of Ivy

The formal establishment of the Epsilon Kappa chapter of Pi Delta Phi, a national French honor society, will take place on May 8, at Mansfield State College. One of the members of the first group to be initiated into the society is Karen L. Ruander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ruander of 16 1/2 South Morrison Street. Karen, a 1964 graduate of Warren Area High School, is a junior majoring in French at Mansfield State.

Forest Area's Schools Set Registrations

The Forest Area School District has announced its schedule for pre-school tests for those children entering first grade in September.

Tests will be held at the following times and places: Tuesday, May 2, 9 a. m. — West Forest School cafeteria, Tionesta, youngsters whose last names begin with A through L; 10:30 a. m., same location, those whose last names begin with M through Z; 1 p. m., East Hickory School cafeteria, Endeavor, all youngsters living in Hickory, Harmony or Kingsley townships.

Wednesday, May 3, 9 a. m., East Forest School cafeteria, Marienville, youngsters whose names begin with A through L; 10:30 a. m., same location, names beginning with M through Z.

Parents of children who will reach their sixth birthday before Feb. 1, 1968, are urged to bring youngsters to schools as listed.

John Bower and Myron Bergman, school psychologists, will interview the boys and girls while school nurses meet with parents.

Parents are requested to bring child's birth certificate, vaccination certificate and immunization records to this meeting.

Any kind of leftover cooked meat or poultry may be used in a stuffing for baked green peppers.

A thick batter, to which whole kernel corn is added is often used for deep-fat fried corn fritters; to vary this dish, omit the corn and use chopped cooked shrimp.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have heard all the arguments against smoking which have to do with health. Here is something else to consider.

Research shows that non-smoking office workers contribute from 3/4 to 1 1/4 hours a day more working time than their smoking co-workers. More if they must run to the rest room to smoke.

Based on $2 an hour, 5 days a week, 20 days a month, every non-smoker should be given an immediate $40 a month raise for the average 20 hours a month extra he puts in while the nicotine addicts search in their purses and pockets for cigarettes, light up, hunt for an ash tray, puff away, gaze, cough, brush the loose tobacco off their clothes and put out the small fires that start in the waste-baskets.

I, for one, would like to see that extra $40 a month added to my next paycheck.—WORKIN' NOT PUFFIN'

DEAR WORKIN': I'm for you, Bub, but don't spend the money yet. You'll have a hard time getting this one through—especially if your boss smokes.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you have heard this story once you've heard it a million times, but here it is again: I am still in love with my high school sweetheart.

I married a man my mother thought would be a perfect husband. I admit he is very good to me and he is a wonderful father. In the 10 years we have been married, he has never been unkind. But I realize now I should have married my true love and not listened to my mother. Although I have only seen my ex-sweetheart twice in the last 10 years (he lives in a neighboring town), I know I shall never get over loving him.

I am not asking for advice because I will never break up my marriage but I wonder if you have some words of consolation for me?—SAD SAD SAD

DEAR SAD: You don't need consolation, you need to wake up and smell the coffee. The one who got away always looks better—especially if you see him twice in 10 years.

Had you married your old flame, you'd probably be pining now for the man you did marry. My advice is to stop feeling sorry for yourself, Girl. It sounds as if you have a very good marriage there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was intrigued by the letter from the woman who wrote to express concern for what would happen to her children if she and her husband should die in an accident together.

Recently, a woman I know socially (we are not close friends—in fact, I am not particularly fond of her) took me aside at a party and said, "I think you would be flattered to know that my husband and I have decided that if anything happens to us, we have selected you and your husband to take our two sons."

I was so stunned I couldn't speak. Finally I managed to reply, "I will have to discuss this with my husband."

He was not only shocked but annoyed. We have never heard of such nerve. My husband asked me to call the woman and tell her we would not accept the responsibility. I refused on the grounds that I don't want to get involved with her. Tell me, Ann, are we responsible for those children, if something should happen to that couple? Yes or No?—VVV

DEAR VVV: No.

Call the woman and explain that you and your husband appreciate the compliment but you are unable to accept the responsibility. That will settle it.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Girl Scout Camp At Birdsall Edey Eight Weeks Off

Girl Scout Day Camping at Camp Birdsall Edey will begin just eight weeks from now. Four sessions of one week each will be held. They are: June 12-16, June 19-23, June 26-30 and July 10-14. Registration fee is $2.50 per session and bus service $2.25.

Swimming, singing, games, camp craft, arts and crafts and nature will be available. Cadette Girl Scouts will set up their own outpost unit. Seniors and ninth grade Cadettes will serve as Program Aides.

This year for the first time, girls attending the day camps who wish to extend their day camp program will be given an opportunity to attend a Stay Camp at Camp Happy Acres. Here the girls check in on Sunday, July 23, and out on Friday evening, July 28, thus being able to spend a full five nights at this beautiful partially wooded campsite on the rolling farmlands of Western Crawford County. A day at Pymatuning is a highlight of the week. Cost for this camp is $20.00.

Girls wishing to attend must register through their troop. Troop registrations will be accepted on May 10 only at the Warren Girl Scout Field Office. Once again the director of the Day Camp will be Mrs. Walter Jones.

A deep straight-sided casserole is most suitable for serving paella—that wonderful Spanish dish of rice, chicken and seafood plus green peas and pimiento. If you have a large soufflé dish, you'll find it is perfect for the paella.

Ever bake a whole fish stuffed with vegetables—cut onion, carrot, and celery plus parsley sprigs or minced chives? Delicious and fine for weight watchers since the fish needs to be rubbed with only a small amount of butter and the vegetables dotted with the same amount.

Lots of minced canned pimiento is an excellent addition to creamed shrimp or crabmeat.

the Warren Public Library, which jointly sponsors the week's programs, each day this week at 12:15 p.m., through Friday.

The 28-minute film, of rehearsals of the three great artists of Schubert's "Flat Trio and Mendelssohn's D Minor Trio" was a rewarding experience.

Miss Myers explains presentation of the five films at these Library week noon-time programs, is to show the wide variety and range of films available to groups and organizations in the Warren County area the Warren Public Library film service.

"More than 10,000 excellent films are available from the library, through various channels," says Miss Marcia Myers who will be glad to discuss the service with anyone.

Today's noon-time film will be sponsored by the Garden Club of Warren, and will be devoted to flower arrangement.

Final film, Friday noon, sponsored by Warren County Historical Society is a documentary on "Pithole U.S.A.," now fabled oil country community in the 1800's.

Election Code Lengthy

(Editor's Note: A concerted bipartisan movement is afoot to update Pennsylvania's obsolete election laws and correct some of the chaotic and meaningless rules that clutter the Election Code, which is not even a state document. Here is a report.)

By HARRY W. BALL
HARRISBURG (AP)—If you wanted a copy of Pennsylvania's Election Code you wouldn't follow logic to the State Elections Bureau and ask for a copy. No sir. They don't have any. The Election Code is not a state document.

You would go to the private printer in Harrisburg which published the code under copyright and has them for sale at $2.25 per copy. That's also where the Elections Bureau would have to go if it needed a copy.

Suppose you were curious enough to part with $2.25. The code could reward even the skeptics with some oddities. There are 12 pages devoted to penalties for skulduggery at election. Wrongdoers would be barred from ever holding employment with the state—not for years, not for life, but for ever.

Suppose a candidate for governor ran afoul of the election laws in the heat of campaigning. And remember both major candidates for that high office went to court last year to prosecute claims of loose campaign spending.

Under the letter of Pennsylvania's election laws, a careless candidate for governor could very well wind up negating his chances for ever holding even per diem employment with the Highway Department. Suppose you were a newsman, or even a curious citizen, and wanted to know how much campaign money was spent on behalf of a given candidate. Once again, you would go to the State Elections Bureau.

This time, the information would be there. Last year when literally millions were spent on both sides, newsmen spent whole days in the bureau just sorting out the statements. They added up totals on another day.

So why bring this up? Well, a movement is afoot to bring some order out of the chaotic hodge-podge known as Pennsylvania's Election Laws.

It's a bipartisan effort involving both the legislative and executive arms of government, and the Republican and Democratic State Committees.

It couldn't be any other way but bipartisan and be successful. There's a political truisim that vote-buying could be abolished tomorrow if both sides acted in concert to stop it. If only one side stopped, he would risk losing the election.

A group of experts called the Election Law Improvement Committee has been at work for some time on the enormous undertaking. It involves projecting and sifting ideas, discarding some, agreeing on some, compromising on others.

Generating many of the ideas are two men eminently qualified from the standpoint of experience and exposure to Pennsylvania's election machinery.

One is Craig Truax, secretary of the Commonwealth in Gov. Shafer's cabinet. He served throughout the preceding Scranton administration as Republican State Chairman.

Another is Will E. Alton, long time director of elections in Allegheny County and respected authority on election procedures.

Others are: State Senators William B. Lentz, Dauphin County, and Joseph J. Scanlon, Philadelphia, State Reps. Andrew T. Penrich, Allegheny, and Guy A. Kistler, Cumberland, and Peter Yonavick, Berks County commissioner.

Note there are no party designations. That's the way the committee wants it—non-partisan.

Sen. Lentz and Rep. Kistler head the elections committees in their respective chambers. Truax refers to them as the "progressive-minded chairman."

Lentz learned about elections by bucking the formidable Dauphin County Republican machine to win his Senate seat. Kistler plans extensive public hearings to sound out public sentiment on election reform.

The enterprise of the major news services, plus in recent years the leading television network, make it possible for the citizen to read election results at breakfast, or hear it via the electronic media.

Costs are written off by the participating newspapers, radio and television stations, and charged to public service. The results are unofficial.

If the hypothetical citizen were compelled to wait for official results, he wouldn't know who won for several weeks.

The package of election reforms to be considered by the Legislature will likely include a proposal to put the Commonwealth in the business of collecting returns on election night.

Addressing himself to the subject at a recent seminar of Pennsylvania newspaper editors in Harrisburg, Truax said: "There is no centralized agency to compile these statistics. Wire services have tried to fill this void and have done a remarkable job under the circumstances. However, when unofficial county sources call it '30' with some districts unreported, the wire services have no alternative other than to continue" the cumulative total without these missing precincts.

Suppose a real cliff-hanger evolves from the unofficial count. Miss Genevieve Blatt, newly designated deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, was involved in no less than three such close contests while winning re-election as secretary of Internal Affairs and running for the U.S. Senate in 1964.

In such situations, the absentee ballots become the crucial key to the over-all results. And you know what? They don't even start counting absentee ballots until 10 days after the election! When these close margins develop, complicated by the sweet smell of victory in the air, candidates have the natural tendency to squabble over every ballot.

The old senatorial district of Schuylkill and Lebanon counties was without a state senator for two whole years while such a hassle was going on. A similar contest which developed in York County from last November's election is still in progress, with no settlement in sight. The framers of election reform recognize the problem in these words: "Most of the emotional grasping at straws' arguments dealing with the counting of absentee ballot returns is a direct result of the fact that the ballots are counted too late."

What the reformers would do to prevent it: Require the county board to hold all applications for mass review on a prescribed, advertised day when it would pass upon all applications for absentee ballots. The political party and candidate would be represented and any challenges would be required at that time. Thus all questions about the validity of the absentee ballot applications would be resolved in advance of election day.

Illness or enforced absence from one's home precinct may qualify electors to cast absentee ballots. Here are some other items being kicked around in discussion sessions as framers try to get their bill ready for introduction in the Legislature by May 1: —Eliminate write-ins for offices below citywide level. If your name doesn't appear on the ballot, forget about the chances of getting elected.

—Permit everybody to vote who is standing in line when the polls close. —Allow a citizen to register on any day of the year except primary and election day. The books now are closed 135 days out of each 365.

Oh, yes. Provide state printing of the new Elections Code so there'll be copies to go around.

Youngsville Starts Old Timers Team

By Peggy and Lew Crippen
Members of the Youngsville Old Timers softball team are to report to the American Legion Home, Warren, at 7:30 p.m. today to be measured for uniforms.

Dick Pearce, organizer, reports that for the second time the Warren recreation league has refused admittance to the Youngsville team. According to Pearce, the league president, Nick Tomassoni, considers the Youngsville members "too old to fulfill their responsibilities to the league."

The Youngsville team, according to Pearce, will go independent. All the teams in the Warren league have guaranteed to play the independents. Many of the games will be scheduled for the Forge Field, near Youngsville.

Youngsville Brownies and Junior Girl Scouts have added an additional service project to their activities. The girls will collect items such as cake mixes, frostings, puddings, jello, cake decorations, candy and brownie mixes, and eggs from the residents of Youngsville. The girls will take these items to the Warren State Hospital in May.

The girls will spend three weeks collecting the items and says Tom McCahill, automobile expert for Mechanix Illustrated.

Tom McCahill evaluates the automobile industry for Mechanix Illustrated. Recently, he took out an SST hardtop equipped with a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8 for an exhaustive series of road tests. How did our Excitement Machine perform?

"In roadability and performance, it would top most of the newer specialty cars. There's absolutely no plowing and little body roll. The whole feel of the car, when going over ruts or across dirt roads, is excellent."

What about comfort? "It's extremely comfortable and relaxing to drive. In straight-line driving the SST is as comfortable as the Jell-O specials."

How about Rebel's new four-link rear suspension? "Of all the new sporty-type cars, as they come from the

PROGRAM OF GREAT SOCIETY

Attack on Heart Disease Winning

By HAROLD M. SCHMECK JR. (c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — As early as this summer the Great Society's attack on heart disease, cancer and stroke may begin saving lives.

If this happens, it will be accomplished in a manner far different from what many expect. There will be no nationwide network of special treatment centers, although this is what many expect and what Congress at one time considered.

Instead, there will be individual regional programs drafted by the regions themselves to suit their own needs and circumstances.

The programs will try to educate the general public in health matters so that laymen will have a better idea of what is possible, what is available and where.

The first four regional plans for actual operation have been reviewed by the U. S. Public Health Service. Approval of the first of these was announced by the Surgeon General of the public health service, Dr. William H. Stewart. A region centered at Albany received a grant of $914,627 for the first year of a two-year program.

Approval of plans for regions in Kansas, Missouri and the mountain states is expected shortly.

Planning grants are already in effect for regions covering 60 per cent of the population. Nine-tenths of the nation will be in the planning stage shortly.

This much has been accomplished in the less than two years since President Johnson signed the law to begin the campaign against the diseases that cause 71 of every 100 American deaths.

The U. S. is not expected to see the full impact of this campaign for years.

The first four regions seem to be beginning their programs smoothly.

If trouble comes to the national effort later, some observers say, it is likely to arise from confusion in the great urban areas. A multitude of institutions, groups — and problems — must somehow find expression in a coordinated program.

"The centipede is trying to figure out where to put his feet," one expert said.

"I am establishing a commission on heart disease, cancer and stroke to recommend steps to reduce the incidence of these diseases through new knowledge and more complete utilization of the medical knowledge we already have," President Johnson told Congress in February, 1964.

Two months later the commission convened under the chairmanship of Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, the heart surgeon from Houston. On that occasion the President said that unless effective measures were taken "two-thirds of all Americans now living will suffer or die from cancer, heart disease or stroke."

A law authorizing the regional medical programs was signed Oct. 6, 1965.

Dr. Robert Q. Marston of the National Institutes of Health heads the government office that deals with the regions in their planning. The money will come from the public health service, but the initiative is to come from the regions. The objective is to reduce the gap between the potentialities of medical science and the realities of medical practice.

IN OTHER STATES

New York's Liquor Policy Hikes Price

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Drinkers in many states are paying more for scotch this spring — largely because the New York legislature tried to get a better price break for New Yorkers.

A nationwide Associated Press survey found prices up generally 1 to 5 per cent, a whisky rebellion in Ohio, and a boycott in Pennsylvania.

Some liquor spokesmen blamed price hikes on general increases in the cost of living or increased state taxes. Most blamed Distillers Corp., Seagrams Ltd. and other distillers which raised prices in the wake of a New York law.

That law provides that prices for liquor sold to wholesalers in New York be no higher than those charged wholesalers elsewhere in the United States.

New York, which accounts for about 12 per cent of the nation's liquor sales, is one of 32 states where liquor is sold by private retailers. In the 18 where sales are controlled by the states, prices generally have been lower.

Instead of cutting New York prices, the distillers raised them in some other states to match New York's. "The distillers have been raising prices quietly — so quietly that some of their customers haven't even noted them," said E. Leonard Solomon, head of a Chicago liquor firm, who noted the price spread from distillers had crept up 10 to 12 per cent.

Ohio's state liquor director, Donald D. Cook, called it "unwarranted and unfair." Ohio refused to buy Seagram's at the higher prices, and has maintained its boycott.

"Director Cook knows that because of a Supreme Court decision last year we must have one standard F.O.B. price on every brand," said Edgar N. Bronfman, Seagram's president.

He accused Cook of "attempting to use the economic power of his office to force us to reduce our prices in the entire United States."

He accused Cook of "attempting to use the economic power United States."

In Pennsylvania, the liquor control board caved in last February after a four-month holdout and agreed to pay the higher prices charged by Seagram's and other distillers. Prices went up 17 to 64 cents a fifth.

The Pennsylvania legislature investigated and concluded the only alternative would have been to remove the affected brands from the shelves.

State Rep. C. L. Schmitt, a Democrat who bills himself as Mr. Consumer, called for a boycott of state liquor stores to protest the increases, but consumers didn't rally to his cause.

In Utah, J. W. Price, Liquor Control Commission chairman, said: "If the people in Utah want to buy Seagram's or any other product, then we think it is our duty to sell it to them. We don't boycott anything. But if prices get too high, we think they will reach a point of diminishing returns."

Seagram's dropped from first to third in total sales in West Virginia right after the increase, but now is back up again, reported Clarence C. Elmore, alcohol beverage control commissioner.

In Washington the state liquor control board expects prices to go up this summer when old stocks are exhausted. The board bought 80,000 to 100,000 cases in advance in an attempt to hold down prices.

Montana liquor prices are rising about 5 per cent, reports Crwell B. Shelton, state liquor administrator. He says the rise began last year when the Montana liquor control board accepted Seagram's request for an increase of about 15 cents a fifth.

In Dallas, Tex., a liquor store spokesman said prices of at least 80 per cent of the standard liquor brands have gone up in recent months, with the average about $3 a case.

In Virginia, prices are up 5 to 65 cents a bottle, with most increases on scotch and blended whisky. There has been little change in the price of bourbon, the big seller in Virginia.

It is scotch that is up in Georgia, too.

"This is because New York is scotch market and Atlanta a bourbon market," a Georgia revenue department spokesman said. "The distilleries were trying to create a scotch market in Atlanta (by lowering prices), but because of the large scotch sales in New York, they could not cut the price there. So the price in Georgia had to go up."

Gov. Ronald Reagan has proposed raising the California state tax from $1.50 to $2.25 a gallon, and Maine Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has announced he will direct the liquor commission to raise prices about 5 per cent July 1.

In Massachusetts, Gov. John A. Volpe says drinkers could save $30 million if the state repealed its minimum price liquor law. The Massachusetts Package Stores Association opposes the change.

For Horse Clinic

Fred B. Givens, extension engineer Pennsylvania State University, will conduct the second in a series of three horse clinics, Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the court house basement. All interested in horses and ponies are welcome.

Givens will discuss stable requirements for horses, including stall arrangements and dimensions, and suitable building materials. Special attention will be given to labor-saving arrangements and equipment.

There will also be presentation on forage and pasture for horses. This will include best pasture and crops for horses, with discussion on production of quality hay, and time of harvest.

Southwest 4-H Dairy Club meets Friday April 21 at 8 p. m. at the home of Marshall Danielson. Members will make rope halters in preparation for training their calves for the fall roundup at Youngsville Warren County Fair.

Seedlings Now Available

Tree seedlings supplied by the nurseries of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry and Waters will be distributed today for Warren County from 1 to 5 p. m., at the district office, 201 Pennsylvania ave. W.

Orders were received last fall for two and three-year-old seedlings for the purpose of reforestation and improving woodland areas. Many idle acres are being planted, according to district forester Robert K. Ache.

Distributed for Erie County today are 101,500 seedlings, for Warren County 15,000, and Forest County 4,000.

Next week 210,500 seedlings will be delivered in Crawford County and 25,500 in Venango County.

Postmaster Exam

A civil service examination is scheduled Saturday morning for 12 applicants for the postmaster position in the borough of Kane. Among the men planning to take the exam is McKean County's representative to the General Assembly, Victor E. Westerberg.

FEAST OF UNLEAVENED BREAD

Passover Begins Monday; Celebrates The Exodus

Passover, a major Jewish festival over 3,000 years old, will be celebrated by Jews all over the world beginning at sundown Monday.

The holiday commemorates the exodus of the Israelites from ancient Egypt into the desert to escape the slavery and oppression of the Egyptian monarch, Pharaoh.

The celebration of the holiday begins with the ritual called the "Seder," the Hebrew word meaning "order." The family participates in the ceremony by reading the prayers and singing the songs in the "Hagadah," the book which tells the story of the ancient Exodus and the efforts of Moses to free the Jewish people from Egyptian bondage.

Many foods eaten during the Seder ritual serve as symbolic reminders of the Exodus. Best known are the Matzos or unleavened bread, so made because the Israelites left in haste and could not complete the baking of dough.

Other foods found on the Seder plate are: Harosets, a combination of nuts, apples, cinnamon and wine which depict the mortar used by the Israelites to make bricks for the buildings of the store cities of Pithom and Raamses. Moror, bitter herbs, to recollect the bitter period of bondage; a roasted egg, to symbolize the festival burnt-offering presented on Passover during the existence of the Temple in Jerusalem; and a shankbone to represent the Pascal Lamb.

Both the ancient message and the contemporary theme are taught to youngsters in the family who play an important role at the Seder. The youngest asks the "Four Questions" in the Hagadah. He inquires of the others the difference between the Passover meal and other meals and asks the reasons for the eating of Matzos, bitter herbs and harosets.

Children are looking forward to finding the "Aphikomen"—a Greek word for dessert. The one who conducts the Seder puts a piece of Matzo aside at the beginning of the Seder to be eaten by the Seder guests immediately after the meal. The discovery of this piece of Matzo usually means a reward for the youngster who finds it.

LAND EXCHANGE NOTICE (Tripartite)

Notice is hereby given that H. Allen Petersen and Norma G. Petersen, his wife, have applied for exchange under the Act of March 3, 1925 (16 U.S.C. 516) to exchange 197.4 acres of land in lot numbers 456 and 457 in Pleasant Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, known to the Forest Service as Tract No. 964, for not to exceed an equal value of National Forest timber in Lots 87, 98, 99, 113, 114, 115 and 156, Kinzua Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania. Said 197.4 acre parcel is part of that certain tract or parcel of land more particularly described in the conveyance from Mary Elizabeth Maier (single) to Henry Allen Petersen and Norma G. Petersen, his wife, by deed dated December 9, 1953, of record in the Recorder's Office of Warren County, Pennsylvania in Deed Book 289, page 14. Persons claiming said properties or having bona fide objections to such application must file their protests with the Regional Forester, U. S. Forest Service, Wisconsin Broadway Building, 312 E. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 53203, within 30 days after the date of first publication of this notice, March 30, April 6, 13, 20, 1967 4t

At the hearing, the governing body shall afford an opportunity to all persons to be heard and shall receive, make known, and consider recommendations in writing with reference to the redevelopment proposal.

Take our Rogue Hardtop, with its reclining bucket seats. Okay, now drop in that optional Typhoon "343" V-8. That's right, the 4-barrel, 280-horsepower mill. Add four-on-the-floor, tach, power disc brakes, and our special handling package. The whole bit! Now, let's splurge with a vinyl-covered roof, Turbo-Cast wheel covers and red-line tires. Okay, now you've got something very exciting going for you: a very swish hardtop V-8 that's priced like a plain-Jane Six.

Stokeley Carmichael's Aims Appear Suspect

By HAL COOPER
NEW YORK (AP) — What are the aims of Stokely Carmichael, the black power advocate, and his Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee?
As gleaned from a series of speeches Carmichael has been making on college campuses, they range from mass Negro resistance to the military draft to the introduction of Swahili as a foreign language in Negro schools.
Carmichael also urges Negro students to be proud that they are black.
"We must stand up and say 'our noses are wide, our lips are thick, our hair is nappy, we are black and beautiful,'" he told an audience at Texas Southern University in Houston.
At a University of Texas campus meeting in Austin, Carmichael said that "hopefully the full strength of black power will be felt in the national elections of 1972 — it's at least a five-year organization plan."
In a speech at Florida A. & M. Carmichael called on Negroes of military age to form "a gigantic antidraft system."
The first few Negroes who tell their draftboards, "Hell no, we ain't going" might wind up in jail, Carmichael said. "But we'd soon get it so Negroes wouldn't have to get drafted."
He counseled Negro students in several of his speeches that "if a white man hits you — break him... if a hunkie tries to shoot you, kill him before God gets the news."
Swahili: If you know Swahili, you can talk to your African brothers and the white men won't know what you are talking about."
Swahili is a language of the Bantu tribe and is commonly used in trade and government in East Africa and the Congo.
Carmichael also set forth his definition of black power: "the coming together of black people to fight for their freedom by whatever means necessary."
"It's not a question of civilization, baby," he said in a talk in Tallahassee, Fla. "It's a question of survival."
